Ike Begins His Farm Belt Trip In Face Of Row

Democratic Election Victory In Wisconsin Sets Off Controversy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower sets out on a five-state swing through the Midwest farm belt tonight in the face of a stormy controversy over his administration's farm policies.

Heavy political repercussions rolled up as an aftermath of a surprise Democratic election victory in Wisconsin, where the predominately rural 9th District elected a Democrat to Congress for the first time in its history.

Democrats took pains to point out that the Republican loser, State Sen. Arthur L. Padrutt, pegged his campaign to "four square" support of the Eisenhower administration.

"Jolt" To Some Republicans

The winner, Lester R. Johnson, had denounced the administration's farm policy.

Some Republican leaders brushed the episode aside as having little significance in the national political picture. Others reflected serious misgivings and admitted it was a "jolt."

Democratic leaders, gleefully cheering the outcome, hailed it as a bellwether for Democratic victory in the 1954 congressional elections.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who campaigned for the winner, said the result showed "a general dissatisfaction with the farm, power and money policies of the administration."

Benson's Ouster Urged

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) called for the ouster of Secretary of Agriculture Benson, declaring that farmers are "red hot" about what he called Benson's "do-nothingness."

"If President Eisenhower doesn't change his secretary of agriculture, and do it soon, he will sink with him," Johnston said.

Benson, who is scheduled to speak with Eisenhower at a meeting of the Future Farmers of America in Kansas City tomorrow night, sent word to newsmen that he would have no comment on the Wisconsin vote. Atty. Gen. Brownell, a major GOP strategist in last year's presidential campaign, told newsmen at a National Press Club luncheon that the Wisconsin result did not necessarily foreshadow GOP losses in next year's election.

Separated Twins Are Taken Home

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Mouton twins left the hospital for their Lafayette, La., home today—celebrities before they are three months old but headed for a normal family life.

The parents, Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton, agreed the ex-Siamese twins could look forward to the same normal life their other two children enjoy.

"We're going to handle these babies exactly the same as we handled the others," the mayor said.

Bundled in white clothes and bonnets and covered with blue blankets, Catherine Anne and Carolyn Anne were placed in a ambulance this morning for their first trip home since the now famous operation Sept. 17.

The historic separation of the twins was performed by a team of eight surgeons at Oschner Foundation Hospital. When the girls were born July 22, they were joined at the base of the spine. The operation wrote a new page in medical history, one surgeon said.

Va. Demo Leader Faces Tax Charge

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted state Democratic Campaign Manager Sidney S. Kellam and four others on income tax evasion charges.

The action of the jury, which had conducted its deliberations for several days in tightest secrecy, came as a surprise shot in the midst of a state campaign for governor in which the Republicans are making a heavy bid for victory.

Kellam, a political power in Princess Anne County, piloted Gov. Battle's victorious campaign four years ago and is attempting to repeat this year for Thomas B. Stanley.

Violence Flares In Tense Trieste

Yugoslav Offices Raided; Tito Backers Riot

TRIESTE, Oct. 14 (AP)—A band of 200 pro-Italian youths raided offices of the Yugoslav economic delegation here tonight, smashed windows and hurled out the furniture. They had been inflamed by Slovene-Communist rioting in behalf of President Marshal Tito.

The violence flared after a week of uneasiness here about repercussions from the decision of the United States and Britain to withdraw their 7,000 occupation troops from Zone A of the Free Territory of Trieste, including this port city, and turn over the zone's administration to Italy.

British Order Violated

Persons of both factions in the long dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia over the territory's future violated an order by Maj. Gen. Sir John Winterton, British commander of the Allied occupation forces, temporarily banning "public meetings, parades and demonstrations by political parties and associations."

Slovenes and pro-Yugoslav Communists started it.

About 2,000-strong, they battled territorial police with fists and umbrellas in an angry demonstration in the center of Trieste to back Tito's protest against the transfer of Zone A to Italy's rule.

Voice Yugoslav Slogan

"We will give our lives, but not Trieste," they shouted, a slogan voiced for days by Yugoslav demonstrators in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital.

A surging crowd of Trieste citizens, estimated as high as 8,000, massed near the rioters and sang Italy's national anthem, "Fratelli D' Italia."

More than 300 blue-clad police, part of a force of 4,400 efficient and militarily trained men, broke the core of the riot in less than an hour, pushing and shoving the demonstrators into side streets. The police used no clubs or other weapons. A few persons were arrested.

Dulles Hopeful Big 3 Can Ease World Tensions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, departing for London, expressed hope tonight that imminent Big Three talks will "make some progress" toward easing world tensions through international cooperation.

Dulles set out on his flying visit prepared to discuss with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault the possibility of bringing one or more neutral nations into the projected Korean peace conference at a later stage as a possible way of breaking the stalemate holding up the conference.

Trieste To Be Discussed

The idea is that some nation such as India might serve in the role of "honest broker" between the two belligerent sides — the United Nations and the Communists.

It was also reported on excellent authority that Dulles was going with an open mind about the proposal of Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito for a United States-British-Italian-Yugoslav meeting on the Trieste crisis. Like the Korean problem, the whole Trieste situation is slated for study at London.

"Best Wishes" To Churchill

Dulles released a statement disclosing that he is carrying "best wishes" from President Eisenhower to Prime Minister Churchill and expressing pleasure at the prospect of finding Eden again at work after his serious illness of the spring and summer.

Dulles said the "undeviating objective" of the talks to be held friday and Saturday will be "to seek out, with all of our Allies, the basis for a lasting peace."

Held In $79,000 Theft

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—A 53-year-old former bookkeeper for Commercial Credit Corp. was arrested at his apartment here today and charged with theft of $79,000.

The man Guy Rudolph Freeman, was with Commercial until last week. John I. Brilhart, vice president of the organization, signed the warrant.

U.S. May Accept Parley Neutral

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP) — The United States will accept a neutral nation as "honest broker" in the Korean peace conference if necessary, a Western diplomatic source said today.

He said the United States now feels that the conference might in its latter stages need the services of a neutral country, such as India, Sweden or Switzerland, to aid in the deliberations between the U. N. side and the Communist delegates.

This informant made it clear the United States will firmly oppose any attempt by the Communists to make the question of neutral representation the first item of business at the peace conference.

These American views will be communicated to the Communist Chinese and North Koreans when and if the United States representative, Arthur Dean, meets the Reds at Panmunjom for preliminary talks. The United States also will have to sell the idea to Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea. He is firmly opposed to giving India a U. N. seat at the conference.

Samuel M. Brownell Gets Education Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Samuel M. Brownell, a Connecticut educator, was appointed by President Eisenhower today to be U. S. commissioner of education. He is a brother of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

The appointee, whose nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate after it meets in January, is 53, a Republican and a native of Peru, Neb.

Break Reported In Battle Against Crippling Disease

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14 (AP)—The report of a University of California re-searcher today gave medical science what appears to be its first lucky break in its battle against muscular dystrophy, a crippling disease for which there is no known cure.

Ten persons, all badly disabled by the disease, were given daily doses of commercially prepared amino acids, an assortment of vitamins and two simple dietary minerals.

All of them improved substantially, said the experimenter, Dr. J. Ray VanMeter, a neurologist at the UC Medical School. He made a preliminary report in California Medicine, official journal of the California Medical Assn.

The fact that all 10 showed real improvement was spectacular in view of the stubborness of the disease. Ordinarily, improvement in one or two of them would have been considered encouraging.

These unusual results do not mean that an effective treatment is at hand. The senior patient has been under treatment only one year, the latest one only a couple of months. That is not enough time to evaluate a treatment.

Also 10 patients are not enough for a thorough test. Furthermore, Dr. Van Meter does not know exactly how the treatment accomplished its results. Long and complicated studies will be needed.

British Report Second Atomic Blast Success

Weapon Is Exploded In Australia; Third Major Test Planned

SYDNEY, Australia, Thursday, Oct. 15 (AP)—In the climax to months of preparation, Britain exploded an atomic weapon today at the 80,000-square-mile proving grounds northwest of Woomera.

It was Britain's second announced atomic explosion. The first took place at the Monte Bello Islands a year ago.

A third major test is planned soon for the same area.

Sir William Penney, in charge of the tests, reported to London after today's blast:

"Atomic weapon was successfully exploded early this morning at proving ground northwest of Woomera. Scientific records of results are being collected for evaluation. Full safety precautions were taken. The second major explosion (third in all) will be made shortly."

Follows Months Of Work

Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia are the only nations known to have set off atomic explosions.

Today's test came after months of coordinated work. Australian and British Air Force crews poured thousands of tons of equipment into the test site, landing transport planes on the hard floor of a desert depression 400 miles north of Woomera. The supplies ranged from jeeps to fighter planes and refrigerators—to secret, unlisted materials.

Battle Equipment Test

Scientists will study the effects of the explosion on battle equipment, ammunition, radio and radio equipment, army vehicles and prefabricated huts Arrangements were made to leave transport vehicles and a half dozen Mustang fighter planes in the area in their normal condition, filled with gasoline and oil.

Plans for today's test were announced last June by Duncan Sandys, British minister of supply, and the explosion had been expected to take place last week. The test crew had been waiting since then for favorable winds and other good weather conditions.

Government Seeks Early Kidnap Trial

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14 (AP)—The government moved quickly today for an early trial of the kidnapers who killed 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

As a step in bolstering the government's case against the two confessed kidnap-slayers, U. S. District Judge Richard M. Duncan called back into session a federal grand jury now in recess.

The 23-member body was ordered to reconvene Oct. 26 to consider the case.

Dist. Atty. Edward L. Scheufler, who requested that the jury be recalled, already had filed kidnaping charges against the couple, Carl Austin Hall, 34, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41.

FBI agents continued their relentless questioning of the pair in the Jackson County Jail. They talked to the couple until 11 p.m. Tuesday night, and returned for more questioning this morning.

Apparently the FBI was, among other things, seeking some clues to half of the $600,000 ransom money paid the kidnapers by the victim's wealthy father, Robert C. Greenlease.

The St. Joseph, Mo., Press said it had learned from a confidential source that the FBI was trying to trace a 40-pound package mailed to Mrs. Heady's home town from East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 5. The newspaper said a postal clerk at East St. Louis recalled handling the package after seeing pictures of Hall.

Yugoslavia Rejects Soviet Intervention

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP) —The Yugoslav government served notice tonight it rejects Soviet intervention in the explosive Trieste question.

The Belgrade radio, broadcasting an article by Yugoslav Vice President Moshe Pijade in the official organ Politika, said Russia's note on Trieste to the United States and Britain Monday "is neither in the interests of Yugoslavia nor of the Trieste pouplation."

Top Signal Corps Scientist Says He Took Secret Data

Twins Go Home

The Mouton Siamese twins—now normal baby girls after their history-making operation—left the Ochsner Foundation Hospital, New Orleans, yesterday for their home in Lafayette. The daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton displayed varied expressions when leaving the hospital. At top, Catherine Anne seems pleased about the idea while her sister, Carolyn Anne, voices strong disapproval.

Later Recovered In Raid On Home

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today a scientist pal of atom spy Julius Rosenberg admits taking 43 secret documents from Army Signal Corps files some years ago. Army agents later recovered them in a 1946 raid on the scientist's home, McCarthy said.

There was no evidence the secrets ever got beyond the scientist, although McCarthy said there was a possibility.

However, the Senator claimed a number of top secret radar documents—not necessarily the same ones the witness was talking about—eventually fell into Communist hands in East Germany.

McCarthy did not name the witness but called him a "top scientist" recently suspended at the Signal Corps laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. He also was said to be self-described "close friend" of the recently executed Rosenberg. The atom spy once worked at Ft. Monmouth, nerve center of the Army's vital radar program of defense.

McCarthy said the witness told of taking the secret documents home with him because "it was common practice."

"Another reason he gave for removing them was that he was studying up on his work," the Senator added.

The witness was quoted as saying he signed some of the papers out himself, while some were released to him by other unidentified parties.

McCarthy said the scientist denied passing any of the documents to other persons, but conceded they were accessible to his roommate of the time—an unidentified man eventually fired from the Signal Corps for alleged Communist activity.

Americans Among 44 Killed In Crash Of Belgian Airliner

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 14 (AP)—A twin-engined Belgian airliner crashed today shortly after taking off from a Rhein-Main airport near here, killing all 44 persons aboard including several Americans.

Among the victims were a former Austrian, diplomat Sir George Franckenstein, 74, and his wife, Lady Franckenstein. Franckenstein, Austria's last minister to London before World War II, was secretary of the old Austro-Hungarian legation in Washington before World War I. He became a British subject in 1938 and was knighted.

Cause Remains Mystery

Cause of the disaster remained a mystery tonight. One eyewitness said the American-built Convair faltered in flight shortly after taking off, tilted on one wing, sheared off the tops of trees and plunged to the ground with a roar. After crashing it burst into flames.

Sabena Airlines, owners of the plane, listed 40 passengers and four crewmen as killed. The list included these identified as Americans:

William Janovsky, Mrs. Frieda Janovsky and a baby, all of Readsboro, Vt. They boarded the plane at Salzburg, Austria, bound for New York.

New Yorkers Killed

Albert M. Kessel, 44; Mrs. Gertrude Kessel, 42, and Miss Ruth G. Kessel, 22, all of Bay Shore, N. Y.

Irving Rosenberg, 50; Jacob Weil, and Herbert J. Weil, an American soldier—home towns not immediately listed.

(In New York, Sabena Airlines representatives said two more passengers, a woman and child, had been identified as Americans: Mrs. Barbara Brassloff and child Garry, 2, of Rego Park, Queens, New York City.)

Burglar Leaves IOU

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 14 (AP)—An apologetic burglar left an "IOU" and a woman's nightgown and two men's shirts last night when he took $80 from a strongbox in Jack L. Lovitt's apartment.

"If they don't fit, sell them," the burglar's note suggested. "I'll pay back the money double."

Patrol Boy Dies Trying To Prevent Car-Train Crash

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (AP) — Robert Drewek, 13, a safety patrol boy, died today, trying to stop the collision of a car and a train at a grade crossing where he had protected his schoolmates for three years.

Bobby, the winner of an automobile club safety plaque last May, tried to flag down driver Alfred Keber.

The train hit the car, sending it skidding out of control across the tracks where it struck Bobby. Keber was injured seriously.

Bread Prices To Rise

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—One of the city's largest bakeries today announced it will boost bread prices by two cents effective Monday. The new price list puts a 21-ounce loaf at 22 cents, a 17-ounce loaf at 20 cents and a 10½-ounce loaf at 12 cents.

Witnesses Who Clam Up May Be Fired

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The government made two major moves today to loosen the tongues of witnesses who refuse to testify before congressional committees "because the answer might tend to incriminate me."

President Eisenhower gave agency heads the right to fire any government employe who uses that excuse.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said the administration will ask Congress next year for legislation permitting him to grant immunity from prosecution in some cases as a means of forcing witnesses to testify.

Numerous witnesses before congressional committees, especially during probes of racketeering and Communist activity, have refused to answer questions. They relied on a provision of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution that no man "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

A number of balky witnesses have been cited for contempt of Congress, but the courts have freed most of them on their contention their testimony before Congress could be used against them in a later criminal prosecution.

Bank's Giveaway Program Makes Greenbacks Roll In

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—And now even a bank is going in for give-aways.

The Bank of Silver Spring, Md., in a big four-column ad, has announced that anyone who opens a savings account of $5 or more or rents a safety deposit box will be given free:

A 12-cup coffee server, or a football, or an official Boy Scout knife, or a world globe, with 315 square inches of map surface.

Naturally such gay goings-on in normally sedate banking circles called for an investigation. What did all this mean?

"First, let me say," said the cashier, Edward J. FitzGibbon, "that the response has exceeded our fondest expectations. We already are out of globes and coffee warmers."

The bank's theory on operation give-away:

A fellow makes a small deposit, and maybe gets a Boy Scout knife for his kid. Keeps coming back, gets to like the place. Buys an automobile. Turns to bank for floating loan on same. Ditto on money for home improvements.

Before one can say "interest compounded semiannually," the bankers hope, the small depositor has become an important customer.

"And remember," FitzGibbons said, "there's no advertising on any of our prizes, and there are no strings attached. If someone wanted to take out his $5 tomorrow, we wouldn't say a word."

With that, FitzGibbon excused himself. He had to check up on what had happened to the bank's order for more globes and coffee servers.

Chinese Balk At Entering Tent Booths

Prisoners Throw Rocks, Yell; Guards End Demonstration

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 15 (AP)—The commander of Indian custodian troops today issued an ultimatum to demonstrating anti-Communist Chinese war prisoners to listen to Red "explanation" teams or he would send soldiers into the compounds.

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 15 (AP) — Chinese anti-Communist prisoners refused this morning to attend "explanations" at which the Reds hoped to coax them into returning to their Communist homeland, an authoritative source said.

The prisoners were moved into 250-man compounds but flatly refused to leave them for tent booths where the Communist "explainers" were waiting to interview them, the source said.

Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations repatriation Commission reportedly addressed the prisoners after their refusal to move.

No further details were available immediately.

Reds Expected Trouble

Even the Communists did not anticipate smooth sailing when the touchy job of interviewing 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans began at 8 a.m. (6 p.m., Wednesday, EST).

Peiping radio, in a broadcast heard in Tokyo, predicted "the explanation work will not be a calm and smooth process."

It charged that "saboteurs and thugs" planted by the Allies would attempt to "waste as much of the explainers time as possible out of their eight-hour working day."

Prisoners Hurl Rocks

Bugles sounded in the compounds when the Red representatives were sighted by the prisoners—about 7:15 a.m. Then a rock barrage started. The stones rained down on the roads leading to the compounds.

Indian guards hastened to the compounds and quieted the clamor by 7:45 a.m. There were no reports of any of the Communist explanation team — described as "about 180 Chinese" — being injured by the rock-throwing.

However, the prisoners resumed their clamor as the explanations were due to begin. An hour later they were lining the fences of the compounds shouting and rattling mess gear.

Vets To Receive Special Dividend

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today it will pay a 64 million dollar special dividend to 380,000 veterans holding permanent plan World War I government life insurance.

The dividend will be mailed out on or about Oct. 15. It is in addition to the regular 1953 dividend totalling 23 million dollars which is being paid to policy holders shortly after the anniversary date of each policy.

VA said the average special payment will be $168 but the amounts will vary widely in individual payments because the total will depend on the plan of insurance, the age of the insured at the time the policy was issued, the length of time it has been in force and the amount.

Pope Dedicates New North America College

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—Pope Pius XII dedicated and blessed a new 3½ million dollar pontifical North American College here today. He said its completion "lights a stronger flame of hope for the church in the United States of America and in the world."

The glittering white brick and stone structure on Rome's Janiculum Hill, overlooking Rome and Vatican City, will serve American student priests previously accommodated in an old convent. The new college was built with funds contributed by every Roman Catholic diocese in the United States.

Fifteen cardinals—three of them from the United States—and scores of high Catholic prelates, diplomats and students were among the throng of more than 1,000 which packed the high-arched seminary chapel for the service.

Top Signal Corps Scientist Says He Took Secret Data

Twins Go Home

The Mouton Siamese twins—now normal baby girls after their history-making operation—left the Ochsner Foundation Hospital, New Orleans, yesterday for their home in Lafayette. The daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton displayed varied expressions when leaving the hospital. At top, Catherine Anne seems pleased about the idea while her sister, Carolyn Anne, voices strong disapproval.

Later Recovered In Raid On Home

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today a scientist pal of atom spy Julius Rosenberg admits taking 43 secret documents from Army Signal Corps files some years ago. Army agents later recovered them in a 1946 raid on the scientist's home, McCarthy said.

There was no evidence the secrets ever got beyond the scientist, although McCarthy said there was a possibility.

However, the Senator claimed a number of top secret radar documents—not necessarily the same ones the witness was talking about—eventually fell into Communist hands in East Germany.

McCarthy did not name the witness but called him a "top scientist" recently suspended at the Signal Corps laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. He also was said to be self-described "close friend" of the recently executed Rosenberg. The atom spy once worked at Ft. Monmouth, nerve center of the Army's vital radar program of defense.

McCarthy said the witness told of taking the secret documents home with him because "it was common practice."

"Another reason he gave for removing them was that he was studying up on his work," the Senator added.

The witness was quoted as saying he signed some of the papers out himself, while some were released to him by other unidentified parties.

McCarthy said the scientist denied passing any of the documents to other persons, but conceded they were accessible to his roommate of the time—an unidentified man eventually fired from the Signal Corps for alleged Communist activity.

Americans Among 44 Killed In Crash Of Belgian Airliner

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 14 (AP)—A twin-engined Belgian airliner crashed today shortly after taking off from a Rhein-Main airport near here, killing all 44 persons aboard including several Americans.

Among the victims were a former Austrian, diplomat Sir George Franckenstein, 74, and his wife, Lady Franckenstein. Franckenstein, Austria's last minister to London before World War II, was secretary of the old Austro-Hungarian legation in Washington before World War I. He became a British subject in 1938 and was knighted.

Cause Remains Mystery

Cause of the disaster remained a mystery tonight. One eyewitness said the American-built Convair faltered in flight shortly after taking off, tilted on one wing, sheared off the tops of trees and plunged to the ground with a roar. After crashing it burst into flames.

Sabena Airlines, owners of the plane, listed 40 passengers and four crewmen as killed. The list included these identified as Americans:

William Janovsky, Mrs. Frieda Janovsky and a baby, all of Readsboro, Vt. They boarded the plane at Salzburg, Austria, bound for New York.

New Yorkers Killed

Albert M. Kessel, 44; Mrs. Gertrude Kessel, 42, and Miss Ruth G. Kessel, 22, all of Bay Shore, N. Y.

Irving Rosenberg, 50; Jacob Weil, and Herbert J. Weil, an American soldier—home towns not immediately listed.

(In New York, Sabena Airlines representatives said two more passengers, a woman and child, had been identified as Americans: Mrs. Barbara Brassloff and child Garry, 2, of Rego Park, Queens, New York City.)

Patrol Boy Dies Trying To Prevent Car-Train Crash

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (AP) — Robert Drewek, 13, a safety patrol boy, died today, trying to stop the collision of a car and a train at a grade crossing where he had protected his schoolmates for three years.

Bobby, the winner of an automobile club safety plaque last May, tried to flag down driver Alfred Keber.

The train hit the car, sending it skidding out of control across the tracks where it struck Bobby.

Keber was injured seriously.

Bread Prices To Rise

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—One of the city's largest bakeries today announced it will boost bread prices by two cents effective Monday. The new price list puts a 21-ounce loaf at 22 cents, a 17-ounce loaf at 20 cents and a 10½-ounce loaf at 12 cents.

Witnesses Who Clam Up May Be Fired

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The government made two major moves today to loosen the tongues of witnesses who refuse to testify before congressional committees "because the answer might tend to incriminate me."

President Eisenhower gave agency heads the right to fire any government employe who uses that excuse.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said the administration will ask Congress next year for legislation permitting him to grant immunity from prosecution in some cases as a means of forcing witnesses to testify.

Numerous witnesses before congressional committees, especially during probes of racketeering and Communist activity, have refused to answer questions. They relied on a provision of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution that no man "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

A number of balky witnesses have been cited for contempt of Congress, but the courts have freed most of them on their contention their testimony before Congress could be used against them in a later criminal prosecution.

Chinese Balk At Entering Tent Booths

Prisoners Throw Rocks, Yell; Guards End Demonstration

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 15 (AP)—The commander of Indian custodian troops today issued an ultimatum to demonstrating anti-Communist Chinese war prisoners to listen to Red "explanation" teams or he would send soldiers into the compounds.

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 15 (AP) — Chinese anti-Communist prisoners refused this morning to attend "explanations" at which the Reds hoped to coax them into returning to their Communist homeland, an authoritative source said.

The prisoners were moved into 250-man compounds but flatly refused to leave them for tent booths where the Communist "explainers" were waiting to interview them, the source said.

Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations repatriation Commission reportedly addressed the prisoners after their refusal to move.

No further details were available immediately.

Reds Expected Trouble

Even the Communists did not anticipate smooth sailing when the touchy job of interviewing 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans began at 8 a.m. (6 p.m., Wednesday, EST).

Peiping radio, in a broadcast heard in Tokyo, predicted "the explanation work will not be a calm and smooth process."

It charged that "saboteurs and thugs" planted by the Allies would attempt to "waste as much of the explainers time as possible out of their eight-hour working day."

Prisoners Hurl Rocks

Bugles sounded in the compounds when the Red representatives were sighted by the prisoners—about 7:15 a.m. Then a rock barrage started. The stones rained down on the roads leading to the compounds.

Indian guards hastened to the compounds and quieted the clamor by 7:45 a.m. There were no reports of any of the Communist explanation team — described as "about 180 Chinese" — being injured by the rock-throwing.

However, the prisoners resumed their clamor as the explanations were due to begin. An hour later they were lining the fences of the compounds shouting and rattling mess gear.

Vets To Receive Special Dividend

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today it will pay a 64 million dollar special dividend to 380,000 veterans holding permanent plan World War I government life insurance.

The dividend will be mailed out on or about Oct. 15. It is in addition to the regular 1953 dividend totalling 23 million dollars which is being paid to policy holders shortly after the anniversary date of each policy.

VA said the average special payment will be $168 but the amounts will vary widely in individual payments because the total will depend on the plan of insurance, the age of the insured at the time the policy was issued, the length of time it has been in force and the amount.

Separated Twins Are Taken Home

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Mouton twins left the hospital for their Lafayette, La., home today—celebrities before they are three months old but headed for a normal family life.

The parents, Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton, agreed the ex-Siamese twins could look forward to the same normal life their other two children enjoy.

"We're going to handle these babies exactly the same as we handled the others," the mayor said.

Bundled in white clothes and bonnets and covered with blue blankets, Catherine Anne and Carolyn Anne were placed in a ambulance this morning for their first trip home since the now famous operation Sept. 17.

The historic separation of the twins was performed by a team of eight surgeons at Oschner Foundation Hospital. When the girls were born July 22, they were joined at the base of the spine. The operation wrote a new page in medical history, one surgeon said.

Held In $79,000 Theft

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP)—A 53-year-old former bookkeeper for Commercial Credit Corp. was arrested at his apartment here today and charged with theft of $79,000.

The man Guy Rudolph Freeman, was with Commercial until last week. John I. Brilhart, vice president of the organization, signed the warrant.

Va. Demo Leader Faces Tax Charge

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted state Democratic Campaign Manager Sidney S. Kellam and four others on income tax evasion charges.

The action of the jury, which had conducted its deliberations for several days in tightest secrecy, came as a surprise shot in the midst of a state campaign for governor in which the Republicans are making a heavy bid for victory.

Kellam, a political power in Princess Anne County, piloted Gov. Battle's victorious campaign four years ago and is attempting to repeat this year for Thomas B. Stanley.

Break Reported In Battle Against Crippling Disease

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14 (AP)—The report of a University of California re-searcher today gave medical science what appears to be its first lucky break in its battle against muscular dystrophy, a crippling disease for which there is no known cure.

Ten persons, all badly disabled by the disease, were given daily doses of commercially prepared amino acids, an assortment of vitamins and two simple dietary minerals.

All of them improved substantially, said the experimenter, Dr. J. Ray VanMeter. a neurologist at the UC Medical School. He made a preliminary report in California Medicine, official journal of the California Medical Assn.

The fact that all 10 showed real improvement was spectacular in view of the stubborness of the disease. Ordinarily, improvement in one or two of them would have been considered encouraging.

These unusual results do not mean that an effective treatment is at hand. The senior patient has been under treatment only one year, the latest one only a couple of months. That is not enough time to evaluate a treatment.

Also 10 patients are not enough for a thorough test. Furthermore, Dr. Van Meter does not know exactly how the treatment accomplished its results. Long and complicated studies will be needed.

Bank's Giveaway Program Makes Greenbacks Roll In

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—And now even a bank is going in for give-aways.

The Bank of Silver Spring, Md., in a big four-column ad, has announced that anyone who opens a savings account of $5 or more or rents a safety deposit box will be given free:

A 12-cup coffee server, or a football, or an official Boy Scout knife, or a world globe, with 315 square inches of map surface.

Naturally such gay goings-on in normally sedate banking circles called for an investigation. What did all this mean?

"First, let me say," said the cashier, Edward J. FitzGibbon, "that the response has exceeded our fondest expectations. We already are out of globes and coffee warmers."

The bank's theory on operation give-away:

A fellow makes a small deposit, and maybe gets a Boy Scout knife for his kid. Keeps coming back, gets to like the place. Buys an automobile. Turns to bank for floating loan on same. Ditto on money for home improvements.

Before one can say "interest compounded semiannually," the bankers hope, the small depositor has become an important customer.

"And remember," FitzGibbons said, "there's no advertising on any of our prizes, and there are no strings attached. If someone wanted to take out his $5 tomorrow, we wouldn't say a word."

With that, FitzGibbon excused himself. He had to check up on what had happened to the bank's order for more globes and coffee servers.

Burglar Leaves IOU

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 14 (AP)—An apologetic burglar left an "IOU" and a woman's nightgown and two men's shirts last night when he took $80 from a strongbox in Jack L. Lovitt's apartment.

"If they don't fit, sell them," the burglar's note suggested. "I'll pay back the money double."

Pope Dedicates New North America College

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—Pope Pius XII dedicated and blessed a new 3½ million dollar pontifical North American College here today. He said its completion "lights a stronger flame of hope for the church in the United States of America and in the world."

The glittering white brick and stone structure on Rome's Janiculum Hill, overlooking Rome and Vatican City, will serve American student priests previously accommodated in an old convent. The new college was built with funds contributed by every Roman Catholic diocese in the United States.

Fifteen cardinals—three of them from the United States—and scores of high Catholic prelates, diplomats and students were among the throng of more than 1,000 which packed the high-arched seminary chapel for the service.

Lid On Election Spending In Maryland Urged By GOP

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Republicans proposed a ceiling on campaign expenditures in Maryland elections today, but a Democratic spokesman wasn't so sure such a limit is necessary.

Baltimore Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr, speaking for the Republican State Central Committee, proposed to the Legislative Council that political parties be allowed to spend only 15 cents per registered voter in a general election campaign.

Individual candidates would be allowed an additional 5 cents per voter eligible to vote for the office he is running for, under Scherr's proposal.

Scherr would limit primary election candidates to a flat 15 cents per voter eligible to vote on the office each candidate seeks.

Harry C. Gross, counsel for the Democratic State Central Committee, indicated that proper reporting of campaign expenditures is more important than the money spent.

"Wealth does not govern the decision of the voters," Gross told the council. "Elections are not bought, but they are expensive."

Scherr did not insist on the figures he proposed. He said they could be revised upward or downward as needed, adding:

"Whatever the figure, it is still going to be for the first time a maximum on what can be spent."

"Individualists" Gain Recognition

COLORADO SPRINGS, Oct. 14 (AP)—That rare breed of man known as the individualist gained true recognition today.

Seven Negroes Freed In Carpenter's Death

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., Oct. 14 (AP)—Seven Negroes charged with manslaughter in the death of a Laurel, Md. carpenter were acquitted late today by an all-male jury which deliberated three hours and 18 minutes.

Freed of the charges were James N. Bailey, Donald V. Jackson, Margaret Wilson, Dorothy E. Reddix and Nancy L. Wilson, all of Silver Spring, Md., Gladys V. Still Kelley of Weaton.

The carpenter, E. G. Padgett, had been found beaten beside a Patuxent River swimming hole last July 27. He died three days later at Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale.

U. S. Air Power Advance Noted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — A Senate Armed Services Subcommittee said today U. S. air power and collective security arrangements have advanced to a point that "no aggressor nation can start something and go unpunished."

The report was signed by Sens. Case (R-SD), Duff (R-Pa) and Stennis (D-Miss), who just returned from an inspection tour of U. S. overseas air bases. The three reported personally to President Eisenhower a few hours before making public their findings, but gave no details of their talk with the President.

Their tour carried them to U. S. airbases in England, Scotland, France, French Morocco, Portugal, Spain, Germany, Libya, Turkey, Greece, Italy and Australia.

Bristling with confidence in U. S. power, the Senators said in their 10-page printed report "it is time to quit wringing our hands and talking tones of despair."

Much remains to be done, they said, but "we no longer need to build every base that anyone could propose in every possible position under the sun."

Ike Frustrated Aviator In 1915

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower told a group of aviation pioneers today he got the flying bug 38 years ago but his wife-to-be didn't like the idea.

He was a frustrated sort of flier in those days, the President recalled at an informal meeting in the White House rose garden with the executive committee of the International Air Pioneers.

He told how the fledgling Air Force sent five planes to Ft. San Antonio, Tex., where he was stationed in 1915.

The President said he applied for duty with the flying service but that he became engaged about this time and his fiancee, Mamie Doud, disliked the thought of his flying.

So, said the President, it wasn't until 1936 while he was in the Philippines that he was able to get a license to fly.

Three Robbers Loot Safes In Capital Store

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Three robbers early today leisurely looted safes in the Goldenberg department store in downtown Washington taking time out regularly to force watchmen to make the rounds of patrol boxes to prevent sounding of a burglar alarm.

Store officials estimated the robbers took between $5,000 and $10,000 after hammering open the safes and a basement walk-in money vault.

They passed up the store payroll stored in the big basement vault, but carried from it bags of quarters. Smaller coins were left behind.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission has promised that he will leave "no stone unturned" in replacing non-career federal employes with career employes, many of them Marylanders, who have been fired.

This was his answer to a letter I wrote him demanding that government department heads be ordered to protect career people in the Civil Service during the current reduction of the federal payroll prior to the lowering of taxes by the Eisenhower administration.

The day after Mr. young wrote me he sent the order, with the President's backing, to every cabinet officer and agency head, warning them to make sure they carry out the administration's policy of protecting career employes as they cut down their staffs. He said there are 700,000 non-career people working for the government, and that right now there are 492 career employes in the Washington area who have been fired through no fault of their own.

While this is a bread-and-butter problem to the government workers living in our congressional district close to Washington, it's also important to the rest of us because we are entitled to know t' at our government is being administered by the most capable and conscientious people—those who have made government service their careers.

No crime in a generation has caused so much shock, grief and sympathy among Americans as the kidnap-murder of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease in Kansas City. The man charged with this terrible offense has a long record of arrests for minor law-breaking, and evidently this is another example of the failure of the authorities to recognize an habitual criminal.

Sentences in jail are like pills for a head-cold; they stop the trouble temporarily, but give no assurance that it won't happen again. Some states have laws providing that after so many offenses a man is judged a habitual criminal and he can be sent to prison for life. Perhaps every state should have such a law.

But what is really needed—to treat a common cold or a habit of crime—is to determine the cause, then stop it before it begins. Many individuals and groups in and out of the government have tried to solve this problem. Lately a Senate committee headed by Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey ha begun an investigation of juvenile delinquency. Perhaps if they hold hearings, and broadcast and televise them, the reality of the situation will provide more incentive for all of us to really try to solve this problem.

Tuesday I speak to the Silver Spring chapter of the Retired Civil Servic Employes at Blair House, Silver Spring . . . Nobel Prize For Literature

If the Swedish Academy of Literature awards the 1953 Nobel Prize for Literature to Ernest Hemingway, an American novelist will have won out a second time over the present British prime minister. Winston Churchill's series of volumes of world and personal history had placed him high in the ranking for the Nobel Prize in 1949. That year the academy deadlocked over four candidates—in addition to Churchill, William Faulkner and Carl Sandburg, Americans, and Benedetto Croce, Italian.

The award for 1949 eventually went to Faulkner, but the announcement was not made until November 1950, when the names of the 1950 Nobel winners were disclosed. Faulkner became the fourth American to win the Nobel Prize for Literature. The other American winners had been Sinclair Lewis in 1930, Eugene O'Neill in 1936, and Pearl Buck in 1938. T. S. Eliot, American-born but a British national, received the award in 1948.

The Nobel literature award to Churchill for history would set no precedent. Although the prize for literature usually goes to a writer of drama, fiction, or verse, as recently as 1950 the recipient was Bertrand Russell, controversial British philosopher.

The first writer of English to receive the Nobel prize was Rudyard Kipling, in 1907. Subsequently the award has gone to W. B. Yeats, the Irish poet, in 1923; to G. B. Shaw in 1925, and to John Galsworthy in 1932.

The Nobel prize for literature carries with it a cash award of $33,840 in 1953. Under the terms of the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish chemist and engineer who died in December 1896, the bulk of his $9 million fortune was placed in trust for five prizes to be awarded annually without distinction of nationality.

The best known of these awards is the so-called "Peace Prize" given to the person or organization rendering the greatest service to the cause of international brotherhood, in the suppression or reduction of standing armies, or in the establishment or furtherance of peace congresses. The irony that Nobel himself was a perfecter and manufacturer of munitions has frequently been pointed out.

Three prizes are awarded for eminence in physical science, in chemistry, and in medical science or physiology. The award in literature is for the most remarkable idealistic literary work.

If the Nobel prize this year should go to Ernest Hemingway it will be another case of a poet being not without honor save in his own country. No Hemingway novel has won the Pulitzer Prize in the U. S. But then, neither has a novel by Faulkner. Sinclair Lewis was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for "Arrowsmith" in 1926 but declined the honor; Mrs. Buck won the Pulitzer in 1932 with "The Good Earth," and Eugene O'Neill had been a three-time winner of the Pulitzer for drama when singled out for the Nobel.

Faulkner, noted for his "cosmic pessimism," startled literary circles with his speech at Stockholm accepting the Nobel award. "I believe," said Faulkner, "that man will not merely endure; he will prevail. He is immortal . . . because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance. The poet's, the writer's duty is to write about these things. It is his privilege to help man endure by lifting his heart, by reminding him of the courage and honor and hope and pride and compassion and pity and sacrifice which have been the glory of his past."

Unveiling The T-43

On the basis of information released at one time or another the Army's T-43 tank is about the last word in tanks. While details have been classified secret all along, it is known to be the answer to the Russian heavy tank known as the Josef Stalin III, which weighs 57 tons.

The Army had planned to show the T-43 at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in connection with the annual visit of members of the American Ordnance Association. But when the plans were submitted to Defense Secretary Wilson for final approval he curtly reminded the Army of a policy directive of last April. This states clearly that "for reasons of economy and security, public demonstrations of important new weapons and equipment are not in the public interest at this time."

Apparently, as this was to have been a relatively modest show, Mr. Wilson was less concerned with the economy aspects than with security. And while the ban on unveiling of the T-43 before this group of industrial and military experts, all of them screened prior to the issuance of invitations, seems like a hasty decision, it is difficult to quarrel with the basic reasons for the directive.

There is a tremendous amount of rivalry between the services, especially when it comes to lifting the curtain on this or that weapon. There have been instances when one branch of service has put on a garish show at a cost which could hardly be justified. Manufacturers, too, have been guilty on occasion of staging a great whoop-de-do in honor of a new weapon.

It was partly to put the lid on this practice and thus help relieve some of the tension within the Defense Department that the basic order was issued.

Rewards Lacking

Squabbles over patents based on research in applied science are important and cry out for rational settlement. Inventors and the industrial corporations employing them deserve to be properly rewarded for enterprise and ingenuity. Society benefits from the incentives thus provided. But the struggle over applied science should not be permitted to obscure the importance of basic science.

Before there can be applied science, there must be something to apply. What must be made available are the theories and conclusions reached in basic science. In this field, the United States is lagging. And when a nation continues to lag in it, it begins to fall behind in applied science later. When the seed corn is neglected the crop will decline.

People say that basic science is "impractical." What they really mean is that it is impractical from the standpoint of hasty results. But it is a practical necessity. And America's greatest industry today, in terms of dollars invested, exists only because of "impractical" and abstruse mathematical formulas dealing with the binding force which united particles within the nucleus of atoms seen only in the imagination of basic scientists.

Confronted by these facts, those who call basic science impractical point out that there is no profit in it. No royalty is paid to the basic scientist by firms which apply their discoveries. No profit incentive has been set up to encourage basic science.

In an economic system where the provision of incentives and opportunities has been amazingly successful, workers in basic science have not been provided the incentives its importance warrants.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Skin Rash From Frustrations

Some of the most baffling skin eruptions turn out to be cases of neurodermatitis. In this disorder, the rash is initiated by a nervous condition but the diagnosis may be delayed because the relationship between the outbreak and the personality escapes detection. To make matters more complicated, many suffer also from a co-existing sensitivity to food, dust, cosmetics, or animal hair. Treatment obviously is delayed because priority is given to the allergic aspect.

Most victims of neurodermatitis develop lesions that resemble eczema and the most common sites are the forearms, head, and lower legs. It is well known that a tie-up exists between the nervous system and the various components of the skin such as the sweat glands, hair follicles, and capillaries concerned with circulation. With anger, for example, the skin flushes and pallor is associated with fear. The integument encounters other changes, which produce itching or burning sensations and it is reasonable to assume that the rash of neurodermatitis offers still another manifestation. At any rate the blemishes have appeared in so many individuals, in whom cause and effect were demonstrated, that few authorities deny the kinship. This makes the skin one of the most voluble organs of expression.

An extreme example is the unmarried son or daughter in a rigid family. Father usually is a strict, hardworking man and the mother is the overprotective type. As a result, the individual goes out into the world with a high standard of behavior. Then something happens to upset the applecart. There is a love affair, as an illustration, that occasions a conflict between right and wrong. On the one hand is the feeling of guilt produced by the puritanical background; on the other, the desire for warmth and satisfaction.

The ensuing anxiety must be expressed in some manner and in these cases the skin becomes the goat. Why it is selected, and not the heart or stomach, is not known except that many victims have a family history of childhood eczema or other allergic disorder. In this respect the skin may be favored because it is the person's "weakest spot." The outbreak develops in periods when they are most upset. As a rule, its appearance solves their immediate problems because satisfaction and attention are obtained in a legitimate way. Until the relationship between the love affair and the rash is discovered however, little can be done.

In other instances of neurodermatitis the cause is an emotional disturbance far less complicated and involved. Frustrations of all types may be the irritant. Until the origin is understood and a proper adjustment made, local treatment is of little value but bland creams and ointments are better than strong, stimulating products that aggravate rather than heal. The anti-itching salves and starch and oatmeal baths are recommended.

TOMORROW: Bacterial and viral pneumonias.

THE MUSCLES IN POLIO

A. J. V. writes: I. In case of polio is it possible for a physician or therapist to tell whether or not a person is actually paralyzed? 2. Can a person have loss of power without being paralyzed?

REPLY

1. Yes. By using a special electrical machine the extent of the damage to the muscle or part thereof can be determined accurately.

2. In some cases of polio only part of the muscle is paralyzed so that the victim has some use of the limb. He may be too weak to walk, for example, but he has enough strength to stand.

THE MORNING AFTER

N. W. writes: What is meant by "Saturday night palsy?"

REPLY

A form of paralysis partial to alcoholics who fall asleep on Saturday night in a chair with one arm dangling over the back. This leads to pressure on the nerves of the arm and when the old souse awakens the extremity cannot be used for some time thereafter because it is lifeless.

SALIVA TEST

Mrs. J. writes: Have you heard anything more about the saliva test to determine the sex of an unborn child? I read about it earlier in the year, but have not seen any follow up stories.

REPLY

More time will be needed to evaluate this test, but there are indications that it is not as sensitive as it was thought to be originally.

INFECTION SOMEWHERE

U. writes: What causes pus in the urine?

REPLY

Inflammation somewhere along the urinary tract. The most common locations are the kidneys, bladder, or the tube that leads to the outside (urethra). In men, infection of the prostate could be responsible.

Speaker Joe Martin Practices Economy As Well As Preaching It; Justice Department Plans Prosecution Of Former Democratic Officials

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Joe Martin not only preaches economy, but practices it.

He's sailing today on the SS America for a private "look see" throughout Germany, Italy and France; and, as top man in the House of Representatives, he could have found a dozen easy excuses to make the trip "official," thus have the taxpayers foot the bill. But he didn't.

"A funny thing happened the other day," Martin told friends. "I got a call from the State Department. They'd heard about my trip to Europe and phoned to ask me to do a couple of special favors for them over there.

"They told me what they wanted and I agreed to help them out. Then this fellow at the State Department thanked me and said that he hoped I'd understand how much they appreciated my cooperation but that because of the economy wave they wouldn't be able to pay any of my expenses for helping them out.

"I don't mind that," Speaker Martin said with a wry smile. "However, I certainly hope this Republican economy wave isn't just going to start and stop with Joe Martin!"

Democrats To Be Indicted

The Justice Department is working on an imposing list of indictments including several Democrats which, according to present schedule, will be popped on the public about the first of the year.

The list will include a number of Democratic lawyers who once worked for the government and who have now taken cases against the government on behalf of the same clients they once prosecuted. Also on the schedule is the trial of former Democratic Congressman Vincent Quinn of Staten Island, N. Y., who was an assistant attorney general under Truman and is charged wtih taking a case against the government while he was in Congress.

The plan is to bring out these indictments at about the time Congress will be back in session and when the Democrats are expected to take a more aggressive stand against the Eisenhower administration. The Republican answer will be a parade of prosecutions featuring former members of the Truman administration.

Among the cases the Justice Department is working on are the tanker deals in which some government-owned tankers were transferred to foreign registry.

Also on the list of possible prosecutions is the author of a letter written during the last election campaign in which Vice President Nixon is referred to as the recipient of $50,000 from an oil company in 1950 when first elected to the Senate.

Forged Letter On Nixon

The Justice Department has reason to believe that the letter is a forgery and subordinate officials have recommended that the writer of the letter be prosecuted. Higher officials so far have shied away from prosecution. It might open old wounds and public memories of the Nixon $18,000 private expense fund.

Among the Democratic lawyers being scrutinized for violation of Section 284 of the Criminal Code is a former assistant attorney general who, according to an investigation by the Chelf Committee, later represented some of the companies which he prosecuted while in the government.

On the other hand, Democratic senators are set to ask some embarrassing questions of the Justice Department regarding failure to act on the Maryland 1950 elections. Senators Monroney of Oklahoma and Hennings of Missouri, who spent months as members of the Senate Elections Committee probing the McCarthy attacks on Senator Tydings in Maryland, are interested in knowing why there has been no action on the lengthy report they sent to the Justice Department.

Also some Democratic senators are disagreeable enough to ask questions about Senator Bricker's law firm, which gets lush fees from the Pennsylvania Railroad — if the Justice Department lines up too many Democrats for a judicial firing squad.

Irate Congressmen

Ohio's powerful GOP Congressman Clarence Brown is furious about the Agriculture Department's delay in assisting drought-stricken farmers in Southern Ohio. Phoning Agriculture Undersecretary True Morse the other day, Brown gave him a verbal blast.

"Those farmers haven't had any rain since mid-July," he stormed. "They have to truck water to their dairy herds. Their costs are mounting, they're getting less for their milk and the price has just been increased to the consumer. I want some prompt action by your department to help these farmers."

Morse promised to handle the matter personally. However, he happens to be the man who told Iowa farmers last summer that the government was not going to help them with the problem of corn storage.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Mary Caveatt

The National Inter-Law School Moot Court Competition is sponsored annually by The Committee on Junior Bar Activities of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Offered as a text in this competition is a pamphlet, which may be interesting to young lawyers, who at Moot trials have an opportunity to try their wits, but which, in my judgment, is a wickedly clever piece of propaganda designed to influence public opinion in favor of those who hide subversion, espionage, and corruption of American life, by an abuse of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

This pamphlet is model transcript of record of a hypothetical case before the Supreme Court of the United States, namely, the president and trustees of Targe University v. Mary Caveatt, widow of Scholarleigh Caveatt, who had appeared before a congressional committee, plea (CQ) the Fifth Amendment, was fired by the university, climbed a mountain and dropped dead.

Judge Wise of the United States District Court handed down a decision favoring the university, but in the course of that decision, he quotes the congressional committee's transcript. No name of a senator or representative is given and it is therefore impossible to know for sure whether the learned but cagey lawyers who conceived the pamphlet were referring to Senators McCarran, Jenner, or McCarthy or to Representative Velde.

As the pamphlet refers to Communist infiltration into our universities, we must assume that the references are to Senator Jenner, as his committee has been investigating this subject under the brilliant direction of Robert Morris, its counsel.

The Jenner Committee, as well as the others, has followed a procedure with which these bar association authors are apparently not familiar, namely, that before a witness is called in open hearings, he is given an opportunity to appear in executive session. In its report on this subject, the Jenner Committee stated:

". . . This testimony was not made public in any case until the persons so identifed as Communists were given an opportunity in private session to contravert or deny the evidence. After these private sessions, the educators were then called before the sub-committee also in private session and asked about the details of the evidence, and their refusal to deny or contravert the evidence was followed by open hearings. The subcommittee felt that such a method was the most responsible procedure of exposing those who are Communists. Furthermore, it insured fairness and accuracy both to the witness and the subcommittee, since, according to this standard, the names of those who denied Communist party membership were not brought into the public record as subversives."

Because of this method, had the mythical professor Scholarleigh Caveatt denied, under oath, Communist affiliation in private hearings, referred to as executive sessions, he would not have been called for a public hearing. By the omission of any reference to this usual and normal procedure, the Moot Court pamphlet burleques the entire process of investigation and gives to the matter a propagandistic twist, which, it appears to me, it is designed to do.

Furthermore, the quoted transcript of the hearings is so written as to give the impression that the witness is never permitted to reply to a question. I have literally read every word of every hearing before the McCarran, Jenner and McCarthy committees — millions of words—the dullest reading I have encountered in all my years. Some of it I have quoted verbatim in these columns as examples of the horrifying attitude toward the United States on the part of those who teach our sons. I beg the reader's pardon for these boring quotations, but I feel that only if such words are seen can they be believed.

From this vast reading, I can witness that only those who attempted to make irrelevant, unrelated and propagandistic speeches were stopped in their tracks. Otherwise, they talked on and on.

In the bar association pamphlet, there is an appeal to a higher court and the judgment of Judge Wise is reversed. And here is the propaganda: the total abuse of the Fifth Amendment is upheld, despite the fact that that amendment to our Constitution has been used to aid spies, saboteurs, subversives, those who stole our atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, and the defensive steps we are taking against the consequences of these thefts.

The lawyers who prepared this pamphlet do not honor it with their names.

Matter Of Fact

The Twenty Three Thousand

PANMUNJOM

Did we continue the Korean War for many weary, costly months in order to avoid forcible repatriation of our prisoners, only to be confronted with something very like forcible repatriation at the bitter end?

The question is very insistent here in Panmunjom, among the bleak brown hills where the 23,000 prisoners nurse their fears behind barbed wire while the Indian guards march smartly to and fro and the neutral nations repatriation commission elaborately and politely debates technicalities. It is harder, it seems, to find out the free choice of men than one would have thought. It can even be a cruel business, deadly to some of those who must choose.

Not so long before these words were written, the Indian chairman of the repatriation commission held his first full dress press conference. Gen. Thimaya is a handsome, soldierly fellow, obviously a man of good will, although one may perhaps doubt the good will of his smooth political advisers, Haksar and Chakravarti. The tent is crowded, with the Communist newspapermen looking bleakly superior on one side, and the U. N. reporters shooting questions from the other. It is pretty hard to believe that the only prize of so many months of long hard fighting, the principle of human freedom, is here at stake.

Hints Of Reprisals

But then a question will suddenly, half indirectly raise the issue, to be dealth with by Gen. Thimaya as best he could, in his smooth, Oxford English.

Have the rosters of the prisoners, given to the Indian custodial force at the time of the prisoner turnover, now been handed onto the repatriation commission as a whole? Yes, says the general, surely this was normal procedure. (So the repeated warnings of the U. N. command have been ignored. The Poles and Czechs on the commission have the lists of the prisoners by compounds. And when each compound is called up before the Communist "explainers," the prisoners can be threatened with hints of reprisal to their families if they do not change their minds.

And how about this business of the "explanations being compulsory, and the rules of the commission requiring the prisoners to attend several explanations? Here the general is not clear about his own rules. Then the political advisers whisper agitatedly in his ear, and he half changes his answer. And then there is more whispering and the general ends by replying that attendance at repeated explanations will be compelled after all, but that the prisoners may exercise the privilege of not listening. (So the Communists have at least got in the thin end of the wedge for something a bit like brain washing).

And then about the violence in the camp, how about that? The general, plainly uncomfortable, laboriously explains that the prisoners tend to become violent in the presence of "some members of the commission" — the Poles and Czechs. Several had been shot in the course of these outbreaks, one had perhaps been beaten to death in the hospital; it was too bad, it could not be helped. The general has talked to some of the prisoners' leaders. He hopes they understand things better now.

Must Be Understood

Such were the symptoms of an ugly situation. If it worsens, great numbers of these unfortunate Chinese and North Koreans who feel themselves so helplessly the playthings of an unpredictable fate, may in the end be bullyragged into changing their minds and going home to their deaths. It does not need to happen. But the situation needs to be understood and dealt with.

Partly the trouble lies in the makeup of the commission itself that the American administration agreed to in its eagerness to get a truce. The Communists have two active advocates on the commission, the Pole and the Czech. We none, for the Swiss and the Swede are truly neutral, and will not plead the cause of either side.

Partly too, the trouble comes from the fact that should have been understood in advance, that the Indians are not neutrals, but neutralists. The term would take too long to define. In the present case, it means that the Indians are determined to treat the Pole and the Czech, not as Soviet satellites, and as such open allies of one side, in the Korean fighting, but as full fledged neutrals hardly differing from the Swiss and the Swedes. Hence, the decision that gave the prisoner lists to the Communists.

Partly, one must add, the trouble also comes from our own side. Gestures were made to prepare the prisoners for their ordeal. We had to persuade them, in fact, to come to Panmunjom from their former camps without compulsion. But it can be that the Army's free wheeling psychological warriors have also helped to inflame the prisoners' suspicions of the Indians. Indeed, one finds American "psy-warriors" here who talk about the puzzled Indians as though they were working members of the M. V. D. Yet the outbreaks of the prisoners only serve to make the Indians angry with their charges.

Results Can Be Good

Add to this a marked pettiness in the Army's dealings with the Commission and especially with the Indian custodial force—Indian officers have to beg correspondents to oblige them by bringing in such simple necessities as toilet paper, with army warehouses bulging just across the line. Add further the system adopted by both Gen. Mark Clark and Secretary Dulles of hurling condemnations of the Indians from afar, instead of arranging for comeptent face to face negotiation of differences. It can be seen why the local atmosphere is a bit nasty.

Indian neutralism, even Indian strong-headedness, are being made immeasurably worse by American tactlessness and "psy-war" folly. The result can be very bad. But a good result is still possible, even after all that has passed, if the calm and sensible Gen. Hull and the brilliantly able American ambassador here, Ellis Briggs, will just replace the "psy-warriors," and try presenting the U. N. viewpoint in an orderly and friendly manner. Blame the repatriation commission if you choose, for what has happened to date; but in the distribution of blame, do not forget those who approved such a packed commission, and those who have been doing their silly best to irritate the commission into wrong action.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The people of the State of Ohio just a few months ago demonstrated again that they wanted a Republican to represent them in the United States Senate —but, by the act of a Democratic governor, they now are denied that privilege.

In November 1952, the Ohio electorate, by a margin of more than 315,000, elected a Republican senator. Two years before they elected a Republican senator by more than 430,000 majority. Yet the governor of Ohio, Frank Lausche, who is a Democrat, now exercises his privilege to choose a Democrat, Mayor Burke of Cleveland. This is, of course, a recognized right of the governor in office—to fill vacancies—but on this occasion the Republicans in the Legislature of Ohio have only themselves to blame for failing to pass a law requiring that the vacancy be filled at the November election this year.

Lausche May Run

Senator Bricker of Ohio, Republican, who was re-elected last November, urged his fellow Republicans in the state legislature—which happened to be in session last summer when Senator Taft died—to pass such legislation. There were enough votes to pass the law but not to override a governor's veto. Governor Lausche, however, informally told the legislators that, while he did not favor such a bill, he would not veto it if the legislature desired to pass it.

The reasons why the Republican leadership in the Ohio legislature opposed the special-election idea are not clear, though it is suggested that perhaps they feared Governor Lausche, a strong campaigner, might make the race himself and win. It is believed that Mayor Burke will run for the governorship in 1954 and Governor Lausche will try then for the Senate. If the governor wins the seat, it may put him in line as a serious contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

The Republicans in the state legislature were certainly shortsighted. For, even if the Democrats had won this autumn's election, the party would be no worse off in the United States Senate than it is today with a Democrat, appointed by Governor Lausche, taking office next January.

A whole session of Congress — and an important one—will have occurred before the voters of the State of Ohio are enabled in November 1954 to choose a United States senator. The people of Ohio will, therefore, not have in the January 1954 session the man who represents the majority of the voters.

Legislation stipulating how vacancies shall be filled varies in different states, but more and more the trend is toward special elections within a few weeks. This happens in many instances with respect to members of the House of Representatives, and it is more in line with the spirit of the Constitution to enable the voters at the earliest possible moment to elect a senator of their own choice than to permit a representative of the minority party in the state to cast their vote in Congress.

Hasn't Explained Delay

The long delay by Governor Lausche in making the appointment to fill the vacancy created when Senator Taft died on July 31 has not been explained. It could be that the Ohio governor waited as long as possible so as to prevent the pressure of public opinion from being effective in demanding an extra session of the legislature so that a law could be passed providing for a special election this autumn. Certainly if the announcement of the appointment of a Democrat had been made in August, public opinion in Ohio would have had an opportunity to express itself promptly.

Governor Lausche has never given his reasons for deferring action except to say that the Congress wasn't going to meet until January anyway. Recently legal moves have been made in court to try to accelerate action by the governor. The episode will remain as a black mark on Governor Lausche's record unless explained to the satisfaction of the people of the State of Ohio whose majority will has been thwarted.

Nobel Prize For Literature

If the Swedish Academy of Literature awards the 1953 Nobel Prize for Literature to Ernest Hemingway, an American novelist will have won out a second time over the present British prime minister. Winston Churchill's series of volumes of world and personal history had placed him high in the ranking for the Nobel Prize in 1949. That year the academy deadlocked over four candidates—in addition to Churchill, William Faulkner and Carl Sandburg, Americans, and Benedetto Croce, Italian.

The award for 1949 eventually went to Faulkner, but the announcement was not made until November 1950, when the names of the 1950 Nobel winners were disclosed. Faulkner became the fourth American to win the Nobel Prize for Literature. The other American winners had been Sinclair Lewis in 1930, Eugene O'Neill in 1936, and Pearl Buck in 1938. T. S. Eliot, American-born but a British national, received the award in 1948.

The Nobel literature award to Churchill for history would set no precedent. Although the prize for literature usually goes to a writer of drama, fiction, or verse, as recently as 1950 the recipient was Bertrand Russell, controversial British philosopher.

The first writer of English to receive the Nobel prize was Rudyard Kipling, in 1907. Subsequently the award has gone to W. B. Yeats, the Irish poet, in 1923; to G. B. Shaw in 1925, and to John Galsworthy in 1932.

The Nobel prize for literature carries with it a cash award of $33,840 in 1953. Under the terms of the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish chemist and engineer who died in December 1896, the bulk of his $9 million fortune was placed in trust for five prizes to be awarded annually without distinction of nationality.

The best known of these awards is the so-called "Peace Prize" given to the person or organization rendering the greatest service to the cause of international brotherhood, in the suppression or reduction of standing armies, or in the establishment or furtherance of peace congresses. The irony that Nobel himself was a perfecter and manufacturer of munitions has frequently been pointed out.

Three prizes are awarded for eminence in physical science, in chemistry, and in medical science or physiology. The award in literature is for the most remarkable idealistic literary work.

If the Nobel prize this year should go to Ernest Hemingway it will be another case of a poet being not without honor save in his own country. No Hemingway novel has won the Pulitzer Prize in the U. S. But then, neither has a novel by Faulkner. Sinclair Lewis was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for "Arrowsmith" in 1926 but declined the honor; Mrs. Buck won the Pulitzer in 1932 with "The Good Earth," and Eugene O'Neill had been a three-time winner of the Pulitzer for drama when singled out for the Nobel.

Faulkner, noted for his "cosmic pessimism," startled literary circles with his speech at Stockholm accepting the Nobel award. "I believe," said Faulkner, "that man will not merely endure; he will prevail. He is immortal . . . because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance. The poet's, the writer's duty is to write about these things. It is his privilege to help man endure by lifting his heart, by reminding him of the courage and honor and hope and pride and compassion and pity and sacrifice which have been the glory of his past."

Unveiling The T-43

On the basis of information released at one time or another the Army's T-43 tank is about the last word in tanks. While details have been classified secret all along, it is known to be the answer to the Russian heavy tank known as the Josef Stalin III, which weighs 57 tons.

The Army had planned to show the T-43 at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in connection with the annual visit of members of the American Ordnance Association. But when the plans were submitted to Defense Secretary Wilson for final approval he curtly reminded the Army of a policy directive of last April. This states clearly that "for reasons of economy and security, public demonstrations of important new weapons and equipment are not in the public interest at this time."

Apparently, as this was to have been a relatively modest show, Mr. Wilson was less concerned with the economy aspects than with security. And while the ban on unveiling of the T-43 before this group of industrial and military experts, all of them screened prior to the issuance of invitations, seems like a hasty decision, it is difficult to quarrel with the basic reasons for the directive.

There is a tremendous amount of rivalry between the services, especially when it comes to lifting the curtain on this or that weapon. There have been instances when one branch of service has put on a garish show at a cost which could hardly be justified. Manufacturers, too, have been guilty on occasion of staging a great whoop-de-do in honor of a new weapon.

It was partly to put the lid on this practice and thus help relieve some of the tension within the Defense Department that the basic order was issued.

Rewards Lacking

Squabbles over patents based on research in applied science are important and cry out for rational settlement. Inventors and the industrial corporations employing them deserve to be properly rewarded for enterprise and ingenuity. Society benefits from the incentives thus provided. But the struggle over applied science should not be permitted to obscure the importance of basic science.

Before there can be applied science, there must be something to apply. What must be made available are the theories and conclusions reached in basic science. In this field, the United States is lagging. And when a nation continues to lag in it, it begins to fall behind in applied science later. When the seed corn is neglected the crop will decline.

People say that basic science is "impractical." What they really mean is that it is impractical from the standpoint of hasty results. But it is a practical necessity. And America's greatest industry today, in terms of dollars invested, exists only because of "impractical" and abstruse mathematical formulas dealing with the binding force which united particles within the nucleus of atoms seen only in the imagination of basic scientists.

Confronted by these facts, those who call basic science impractical point out that there is no profit in it. No royalty is paid to the basic scientist by firms which apply their discoveries. No profit incentive has been set up to encourage basic science.

In an economic system where the provision of incentives and opportunities has been amazingly successful, workers in basic science have not been provided the incentives its importance warrants.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Skin Rash From Frustrations

Some of the most baffling skin eruptions turn out to be cases of neurodermatitis. In this disorder, the rash is initiated by a nervous condition but the diagnosis may be delayed because the relationship between the outbreak and the personality escapes detection. To make matters more complicated, many suffer also from a co-existing sensitivity to food, dust, cosmetics, or animal hair. Treatment obviously is delayed because priority is given to the allergic aspect.

Most victims of neurodermatitis develop lesions that resemble eczema and the most common sites are the forearms, head, and lower legs. It is well known that a tie-up exists between the nervous system and the various components of the skin such as the sweat glands, hair follicles, and capillaries concerned with circulation. With anger, for example, the skin flushes and pallor is associated with fear. The integument encounters other changes, which produce itching or burning sensations and it is reasonable to assume that the rash of neurodermatitis offers still another manifestation. At any rate the blemishes have appeared in so many individuals, in whom cause and effect were demonstrated, that few authorities deny the kinship. This makes the skin one of the most voluble organs of expression.

An extreme example is the unmarried son or daughter in a rigid family. Father usually is a strict, hardworking man and the mother is the overprotective type. As a result, the individual goes out into the world with a high standard of behavior. Then something happens to upset the applecart. There is a love affair, as an illustration, that occasions a conflict between right and wrong. On the one hand is the feeling of guilt produced by the puritanical background; on the other, the desire for warmth and satisfaction.

The ensuing anxiety must be expressed in some manner and in these cases the skin becomes the goat. Why it is selected, and not the heart or stomach, is not known except that many victims have a family history of childhood eczema or other allergic disorder. In this respect the skin may be favored because it is the person's "weakest spot." The outbreak develops in periods when they are most upset. As a rule, its appearance solves their immediate problems because satisfaction and attention are obtained in a legitimate way. Until the relationship between the love affair and the rash is discovered however, little can be done.

In other instances of neurodermatitis the cause is an emotional disturbance far less complicated and involved. Frustrations of all types may be the irritant. Until the origin is understood and a proper adjustment made, local treatment is of little value but bland creams and ointments are better than strong, stimulating products that aggravate rather than heal. The anti-itching salves and starch and oatmeal baths are recommended.

TOMORROW: Bacterial and viral pneumonias.

THE MUSCLES IN POLIO

A. J. V. writes: I. In case of polio is it possible for a physician or therapist to tell whether or not a person is actually paralyzed? 2. Can a person have loss of power without being paralyzed?

REPLY

1. Yes. By using a special electrical machine the extent of the damage to the muscle or part thereof can be determined accurately.

2. In some cases of polio only part of the muscle is paralyzed so that the victim has some use of the limb. He may be too weak to walk, for example, but he has enough strength to stand.

THE MORNING AFTER

N. W. writes: What is meant by "Saturday night palsy?"

REPLY

A form of paralysis partial to alcoholics who fall asleep on Saturday night in a chair with one arm dangling over the back. This leads to pressure on the nerves of the arm and when the old souse awakens the extremity cannot be used for some time thereafter because it is lifeless.

SALIVA TEST

Mrs. J. writes: Have you heard anything more about the saliva test to determine the sex of an unborn child? I read about it earlier in the year, but have not seen any follow up stories.

REPLY

More time will be needed to evaluate this test, but there are indications that it is not as sensitive as it was thought to be originally.

INFECTION SOMEWHERE

U. writes: What causes pus in the urine?

REPLY

Inflammation somewhere along the urinary tract. The most common locations are the kidneys, bladder, or the tube that leads to the outside (urethra). In men, infection of the prostate could be responsible.

Speaker Joe Martin Practices Economy As Well As Preaching It; Justice Department Plans Prosecution Of Former Democratic Officials

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Joe Martin not only preaches economy, but practices it.

He's sailing today on the SS America for a private "look see" throughout Germany, Italy and France; and, as top man in the House of Representatives, he could have found a dozen easy excuses to make the trip "official," thus have the taxpayers foot the bill. But he didn't.

"A funny thing happened the other day," Martin told friends. "I got a call from the State Department. They'd heard about my trip to Europe and phoned to ask me to do a couple of special favors for them over there.

"They told me what they wanted and I agreed to help them out. Then this fellow at the State Department thanked me and said that he hoped I'd understand how much they appreciated my cooperation but that because of the economy wave they wouldn't be able to pay any of my expenses for helping them out.

"I don't mind that," Speaker Martin said with a wry smile. "However, I certainly hope this Republican economy wave isn't just going to start and stop with Joe Martin!"

Democrats To Be Indicted

The Justice Department is working on an imposing list of indictments including several Democrats which, according to present schedule, will be popped on the public about the first of the year.

The list will include a number of Democratic lawyers who once worked for the government and who have now taken cases against the government on behalf of the same clients they once prosecuted. Also on the schedule is the trial of former Democratic Congressman Vincent Quinn of Staten Island, N. Y., who was an assistant attorney general under Truman and is charged wtih taking a case against the government while he was in Congress.

The plan is to bring out these indictments at about the time Congress will be back in session and when the Democrats are expected to take a more aggressive stand against the Eisenhower administration. The Republican answer will be a parade of prosecutions featuring former members of the Truman administration.

Among the cases the Justice Department is working on are the tanker deals in which some government-owned tankers were transferred to foreign registry.

Also on the list of possible prosecutions is the author of a letter written during the last election campaign in which Vice President Nixon is referred to as the recipient of $50,000 from an oil company in 1950 when first elected to the Senate.

Forged Letter On Nixon

The Justice Department has reason to believe that the letter is a forgery and subordinate officials have recommended that the writer of the letter be prosecuted. Higher officials so far have shied away from prosecution. It might open old wounds and public memories of the Nixon $18,000 private expense fund.

Among the Democratic lawyers being scrutinized for violation of Section 284 of the Criminal Code is a former assistant attorney general who, according to an investigation by the Chelf Committee, later represented some of the companies which he prosecuted while in the government.

On the other hand, Democratic senators are set to ask some embarrassing questions of the Justice Department regarding failure to act on the Maryland 1950 elections. Senators Monroney of Oklahoma and Hennings of Missouri, who spent months as members of the Senate Elections Committee probing the McCarthy attacks on Senator Tydings in Maryland, are interested in knowing why there has been no action on the lengthy report they sent to the Justice Department.

Also some Democratic senators are disagreeable enough to ask questions about Senator Bricker's law firm, which gets lush fees from the Pennsylvania Railroad — if the Justice Department lines up too many Democrats for a judicial firing squad.

Irate Congressmen

Ohio's powerful GOP Congressman Clarence Brown is furious about the Agriculture Department's delay in assisting drought-stricken farmers in Southern Ohio. Phoning Agriculture Undersecretary True Morse the other day, Brown gave him a verbal blast.

"Those farmers haven't had any rain since mid-July," he stormed. "They have to truck water to their dairy herds. Their costs are mounting, they're getting less for their milk and the price has just been increased to the consumer. I want some prompt action by your department to help these farmers."

Morse promised to handle the matter personally. However, he happens to be the man who told Iowa farmers last summer that the government was not going to help them with the problem of corn storage.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Mary Caveatt

The National Inter-Law School Moot Court Competition is sponsored annually by The Committee on Junior Bar Activities of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Offered as a text in this competition is a pamphlet, which may be interesting to young lawyers, who at Moot trials have an opportunity to try their wits, but which, in my judgment, is a wickedly clever piece of propaganda designed to influence public opinion in favor of those who hide subversion, espionage, and corruption of American life, by an abuse of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

This pamphlet is model transcript of record of a hypothetical case before the Supreme Court of the United States, namely, the president and trustees of Targe University v. Mary Caveatt, widow of Scholarleigh Caveatt, who had appeared before a congressional committee, plea (CQ) the Fifth Amendment, was fired by the university, climbed a mountain and dropped dead.

Judge Wise of the United States District Court handed down a decision favoring the university, but in the course of that decision, he quotes the congressional committee's transcript. No name of a senator or representative is given and it is therefore impossible to know for sure whether the learned but cagey lawyers who conceived the pamphlet were referring to Senators McCarran, Jenner, or McCarthy or to Representative Velde.

As the pamphlet refers to Communist infiltration into our universities, we must assume that the references are to Senator Jenner, as his committee has been investigating this subject under the brilliant direction of Robert Morris, its counsel.

The Jenner Committee, as well as the others, has followed a procedure with which these bar association authors are apparently not familiar, namely, that before a witness is called in open hearings, he is given an opportunity to appear in executive session. In its report on this subject, the Jenner Committee stated:

". . . This testimony was not made public in any case until the persons so identifed as Communists were given an opportunity in private session to contravert or deny the evidence. After these private sessions, the educators were then called before the sub-committee also in private session and asked about the details of the evidence, and their refusal to deny or contravert the evidence was followed by open hearings. The subcommittee felt that such a method was the most responsible procedure of exposing those who are Communists. Furthermore, it insured fairness and accuracy both to the witness and the subcommittee, since, according to this standard, the names of those who denied Communist party membership were not brought into the public record as subversives."

Because of this method, had the mythical professor Scholarleigh Caveatt denied, under oath, Communist affiliation in private hearings, referred to as executive sessions, he would not have been called for a public hearing. By the omission of any reference to this usual and normal procedure, the Moot Court pamphlet burleques the entire process of investigation and gives to the matter a propagandistic twist, which, it appears to me, it is designed to do.

Furthermore, the quoted transcript of the hearings is so written as to give the impression that the witness is never permitted to reply to a question. I have literally read every word of every hearing before the McCarran, Jenner and McCarthy committees — millions of words—the dullest reading I have encountered in all my years. Some of it I have quoted verbatim in these columns as examples of the horrifying attitude toward the United States on the part of those who teach our sons. I beg the reader's pardon for these boring quotations, but I feel that only if such words are seen can they be believed.

From this vast reading, I can witness that only those who attempted to make irrelevant, unrelated and propagandistic speeches were stopped in their tracks. Otherwise, they talked on and on.

In the bar association pamphlet, there is an appeal to a higher court and the judgment of Judge Wise is reversed. And here is the propaganda: the total abuse of the Fifth Amendment is upheld, despite the fact that that amendment to our Constitution has been used to aid spies, saboteurs, subversives, those who stole our atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, and the defensive steps we are taking against the consequences of these thefts.

The lawyers who prepared this pamphlet do not honor it with their names.

Matter Of Fact

The Twenty Three Thousand

PANMUNJOM

Did we continue the Korean War for many weary, costly months in order to avoid forcible repatriation of our prisoners, only to be confronted with something very like forcible repatriation at the bitter end?

The question is very insistent here in Panmunjom, among the bleak brown hills where the 23,000 prisoners nurse their fears behind barbed wire while the Indian guards march smartly to and fro and the neutral nations repatriation commission elaborately and politely debates technicalities. It is harder, it seems, to find out the free choice of men than one would have thought. It can even be a cruel business, deadly to some of those who must choose.

Not so long before these words were written, the Indian chairman of the repatriation commission held his first full dress press conference. Gen. Thimaya is a handsome, soldierly fellow, obviously a man of good will, although one may perhaps doubt the good will of his smooth political advisers, Haksar and Chakravarti. The tent is crowded, with the Communist newspapermen looking bleakly superior on one side, and the U. N. reporters shooting questions from the other. It is pretty hard to believe that the only prize of so many months of long hard fighting, the principle of human freedom, is here at stake.

Hints Of Reprisals

But then a question will suddenly, half indirectly raise the issue, to be dealth with by Gen. Thimaya as best he could, in his smooth, Oxford English.

Have the rosters of the prisoners, given to the Indian custodial force at the time of the prisoner turnover, now been handed onto the repatriation commission as a whole? Yes, says the general, surely this was normal procedure. (So the repeated warnings of the U. N. command have been ignored. The Poles and Czechs on the commission have the lists of the prisoners by compounds. And when each compound is called up before the Communist "explainers," the prisoners can be threatened with hints of reprisal to their families if they do not change their minds.

And how about this business of the "explanations being compulsory, and the rules of the commission requiring the prisoners to attend several explanations? Here the general is not clear about his own rules. Then the political advisers whisper agitatedly in his ear, and he half changes his answer. And then there is more whispering and the general ends by replying that attendance at repeated explanations will be compelled after all, but that the prisoners may exercise the privilege of not listening. (So the Communists have at least got in the thin end of the wedge for something a bit like brain washing).

And then about the violence in the camp, how about that? The general, plainly uncomfortable, laboriously explains that the prisoners tend to become violent in the presence of "some members of the commission" — the Poles and Czechs. Several had been shot in the course of these outbreaks, one had perhaps been beaten to death in the hospital; it was too bad, it could not be helped. The general has talked to some of the prisoners' leaders. He hopes they understand things better now.

Must Be Understood

Such were the symptoms of an ugly situation. If it worsens, great numbers of these unfortunate Chinese and North Koreans who feel themselves so helplessly the playthings of an unpredictable fate, may in the end be bullyragged into changing their minds and going home to their deaths. It does not need to happen. But the situation needs to be understood and dealt with.

Partly the trouble lies in the makeup of the commission itself that the American administration agreed to in its eagerness to get a truce. The Communists have two active advocates on the commission, the Pole and the Czech. We none, for the Swiss and the Swede are truly neutral, and will not plead the cause of either side.

Partly too, the trouble comes from the fact that should have been understood in advance, that the Indians are not neutrals, but neutralists. The term would take too long to define. In the present case, it means that the Indians are determined to treat the Pole and the Czech, not as Soviet satellites, and as such open allies of one side, in the Korean fighting, but as full fledged neutrals hardly differing from the Swiss and the Swedes. Hence, the decision that gave the prisoner lists to the Communists.

Partly, one must add, the trouble also comes from our own side. Gestures were made to prepare the prisoners for their ordeal. We had to persuade them, in fact, to come to Panmunjom from their former camps without compulsion. But it can be that the Army's free wheeling psychological warriors have also helped to inflame the prisoners' suspicions of the Indians. Indeed, one finds American "psy-warriors" here who talk about the puzzled Indians as though they were working members of the M. V. D. Yet the outbreaks of the prisoners only serve to make the Indians angry with their charges.

Results Can Be Good

Add to this a marked pettiness in the Army's dealings with the Commission and especially with the Indian custodial force—Indian officers have to beg correspondents to oblige them by bringing in such simple necessities as toilet paper, with army warehouses bulging just across the line. Add further the system adopted by both Gen. Mark Clark and Secretary Dulles of hurling condemnations of the Indians from afar, instead of arranging for comeptent face to face negotiation of differences. It can be seen why the local atmosphere is a bit nasty.

Indian neutralism, even Indian strong-headedness, are being made immeasurably worse by American tactlessness and "psy-war" folly. The result can be very bad. But a good result is still possible, even after all that has passed, if the calm and sensible Gen. Hull and the brilliantly able American ambassador here, Ellis Briggs, will just replace the "psy-warriors," and try presenting the U. N. viewpoint in an orderly and friendly manner. Blame the repatriation commission if you choose, for what has happened to date; but in the distribution of blame, do not forget those who approved such a packed commission, and those who have been doing their silly best to irritate the commission into wrong action.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The people of the State of Ohio just a few months ago demonstrated again that they wanted a Republican to represent them in the United States Senate —but, by the act of a Democratic governor, they now are denied that privilege.

In November 1952, the Ohio electorate, by a margin of more than 315,000, elected a Republican senator. Two years before they elected a Republican senator by more than 430,000 majority. Yet the governor of Ohio, Frank Lausche, who is a Democrat, now exercises his privilege to choose a Democrat, Mayor Burke of Cleveland. This is, of course, a recognized right of the governor in office—to fill vacancies—but on this occasion the Republicans in the Legislature of Ohio have only themselves to blame for failing to pass a law requiring that the vacancy be filled at the November election this year.

Lausche May Run

Senator Bricker of Ohio, Republican, who was re-elected last November, urged his fellow Republicans in the state legislature—which happened to be in session last summer when Senator Taft died—to pass such legislation. There were enough votes to pass the law but not to override a governor's veto. Governor Lausche, however, informally told the legislators that, while he did not favor such a bill, he would not veto it if the legislature desired to pass it.

The reasons why the Republican leadership in the Ohio legislature opposed the special-election idea are not clear, though it is suggested that perhaps they feared Governor Lausche, a strong campaigner, might make the race himself and win. It is believed that Mayor Burke will run for the governorship in 1954 and Governor Lausche will try then for the Senate. If the governor wins the seat, it may put him in line as a serious contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

The Republicans in the state legislature were certainly short-sighted. For, even if the Democrats had won this autumn's election, the party would be no worse off in the United States Senate than it is today with a Democrat, appointed by Governor Lausche, taking office next January.

A whole session of Congress — and an important one—will have occurred before the voters of the State of Ohio are enabled in November 1954 to choose a United States senator. The people of Ohio will, therefore, not have in the January 1954 session the man who represents the majority of the voters.

Legislation stipulating how vacancies shall be filled varies in different states, but more and more the trend is toward special elections within a few weeks. This happens in many instances with respect to members of the House of Representatives, and it is more in line with the spirit of the Constitution to enable the voters at the earliest possible moment to elect a senator of their own choice than to permit a representative of the minority party in the state to cast their vote in Congress.

Hasn't Explained Delay

The long delay by Governor Lausche in making the appointment to fill the vacancy created when Senator Taft died on July 31 has not been explained. It could be that the Ohio governor waited as long as possible so as to prevent the pressure of public opinion from being effective in demanding an extra session of the legislature so that a law could be passed providing for a special election this autumn. Certainly if the announcement of the appointment of a Democrat had been made in August, public opinion in Ohio would have had an opportunity to express itself promptly.

Governor Lausche has never given his reasons for deferring action except to say that the Congress wasn't going to meet until January anyway. Recently legal moves have been made in court to try to accelerate action by the governor. The episode will remain as a black mark on Governor Lausche's record unless explained to the satisfaction of the people of the State of Ohio whose majority will has been thwarted.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Now and then but all too rarely, one gets a glimpse of a girl or woman who walks with the light grace of a tall blade of grass stirred into motion by a soft and gentle wind. Such a lovely method of motion starts in the head — never in the feet. When you start your walk by lifting your foot you are sure to clop-clop along.

One of the first things that a man notices about a woman is her walk. Rightly or wrongly he judges her accordingly. When she moves in a lithe, smooth, gliding manner, he is most likely to judge her as the ethereal creature that he really believes any woman can and should be.

Wrong Characterization

A woman may also be judged by her walk as being sloppy, prissy, aggressive, coy, shy, masculine or a number of other less-than-winning types. If you clop-clop along, you are apt to be deemed sloppy. Too small a step implies prissiness. Step out in too-determined a fashion and you will be tabbed aggressive. The coy step is generally smaller than it should be. Shyness is attributed to those who walk both with a delicate hesitancy and a very small step. If you stride along rapidly, you'll give the impression of masculinity. I do not say that there is any logic underlying these impressions. Still, why let yourself be falsely pegged as something less than you are?

The beauty walk is the natural one. It starts, first of all, with your best posture. Head high, shoulders relaxed, chest uplifted and pulled up out of the waist and, most importantly, your pelvis tilted so your stomach is pulled in and your hips are well under you.

Let each step start from your hip—with as little aid from your knee as possible. Therein lies the secret of much of the grace of the glide walk. Each time you put a foot down, the space in between the toe of the back foot and the heel of the next foot should be equal to the size of your foot.

Stepping It Off

Take a piece of chalk and mark your foot lengths across a room—the longest that you can use in privacy. Practice walking along this course until it feels natural to you to take a step that is the length of your foot.

If you have been footing along in an unnatural fashion, it may take you some time to regroove your habits to the natural step that will mark your walk with beauty. But any woman can walk with beauty. It is merely a matter of mind over posture, mind over muscles and a desire to move with fluid grace!

Civitan Charter Night Planned October 24

The newly-organized Cumberland Civitan Club will have a charter night program Saturday, October 24, at the Cumberland Country Club, it was announced by James E. Robertson, president.

Robertson said at least 25 names will be inscribed on the charter and possibly 35 by the time the event occurs. Officers were named last week by the club at a dinner-meeting at Central Y.M.C.A.

The name Civitan is taken from the Latin word civitas, meaning citizenship. The organization gives citizenship awards annually to local high school students who merit the honor. Some clubs also give a good citizenship award for outstanding accomplishments by an adult in specified local civic and patriotic fields.

There are 14 bones in the human face.

Before World War II, Korean industry, located mostly in the north now held by the Communists, was more important than that of either Mexico or Turkey, says the National Geographic Society.

Heart Fund Benefit Dance To Be Given By Jr. Civic Club

Philanthropic projects of the Junior Woman's Civic Club were discussed and a talk given by Mrs. Lucile Roeder at the meeting of the club Tuesday evening. It was held in the Girl Scout house, with Mrs. Paul Gipe presiding.

The annual Thanksgiving dance is being held for the benefit of the heart fund. It will be November 28, in the Cumberland Country Club, with music by Jimmy Andrews Orchestra. Mrs. Joseph Pellerti is chairman.

Members also decided to make coverlets for doll beds for the Associated Charities Christmas distribution, and to dress dolls again this year.

The group also decided to replace the Cumberland Free Public Library sign, with one similar to the one it gave several years ago.

Three new members were accepted, Miss Louise Lippold, Mrs. Dorothy Williams Metzger and Mrs. Joyce Bestwick Macy, and three who were attending their first meeting were introduced. They were Mrs. Nicholas Vlachos, Mrs. Paul May and Mrs. Warren Mullanex. An invitation was received to visit the display of Fine Arts, sponsored by the senior woman's club.

Being a good citizen involves not only using the privileges, but accepting the responsibilities also, Mrs. Roeder pointed out in speaking of good government depending on good citizens. Her topic was "The Human Side of a Lady Commissioner's Life."

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Edward Sokolowski, Miss Jeanne Lippold, Miss Jean Dauphin and Miss Virginia Harmison.

The next meeting will be in the form of a tour of the Celanese plant at 7:30 November 4, followed by a short business session.

Co. 4-H To Attend Conference

Six members of the Allegany County 4-H Clubs will be among the 50 representatives from Maryland attending the Youth Leadership Training conference at Jackson's Mill, W. Va., October 16-18.

The four-state conference includes representatives from West Virginia, Virginia and Ohio as well as Maryland. The conference theme is "Building and Serving Our Homes for a Better Tomorrow." One of the principal speakers will be Mrs. Polly Hanst, an Oakland homemaker.

Workshops during the meeting will be conducted by Mylo Downey and Miss Dorothy Emerson, state 4-H club agents from the University of Maryland. The workshops offered include those on developing confidence in leadership; song leading; club programs; club service projects; analyzing problems of leadership; officer training; reading lists and books; recreation training and a special session for Extension workers.

Two new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Delma Shriver. Mrs. Walter Bender was a guest. An article pertaining to the need of clothing for Korean orphans was discussed and Mrs. Homer Roby, International Relations chairman, asked to obtain information about helping them.

Mrs. Charles Frost and Mrs. Roby, representatives at the UN Meeting held by Dr. A. B. Hamilton at the library, were given. Members were reminded of the County Achievement Day meeting October 15 and a slipcover training meeting October 27.

Crowding At Ridgeley School Is Protested

Crowded and hazardous conditions at the Ridgeley Elementary School were discussed at length by members of the Parent-Teacher Association at a meeting Tuesday night.

A number favored taking immediate drastic action, according to Mrs. Marshall Valentine, president of the association, but after considerable debate it was decided to await the outcome of letters of protest which were mailed yesterday to Mineral county and state school officials.

The discussion was touched off by the transfer of a teacher this week from the Ridgeley Elementary School faculty to the staff at Wiley Ford School.

This transfer, reducing the Ridgeley staff from its usual eight teachers to seven, brought bitter protests from several speakers who pointed out the action added to the already heavy teacher and room load at the school.

Figures were quoted to show that the Ridgeley teacher-room load is greater than that at the more modern Wiley Ford School which has larger rooms and adequate fire protection facilities.

Reference was made during the discussion that hazardous fire conditions at Ridgeley have been called to the attention of county school officials several times in recent years, with no satisfactory improvements being made.

Crowding At Ridgeley School Is Protested

Crowded and hazardous conditions at the Ridgeley Elementary School were discussed at length by members of the Parent-Teacher Association at a meeting Tuesday night.

A number favored taking immediate drastic action, according to Mrs. Marshall Valentine, president of the association, but after considerable debate it was decided to await the outcome of letters of protest which were mailed yesterday to Mineral county and state school officials.

The discussion was touched off by the transfer of a teacher this week from the Ridgeley Elementary School faculty to the staff at Wiley Ford School.

This transfer, reducing the Ridgeley staff from its usual eight teachers to seven, brought bitter protests from several speakers who pointed out the action added to the already heavy teacher and room load at the school.

Figures were quoted to show that the Ridgeley teacher-room load is greater than that at the more modern Wiley Ford School which has larger rooms and adequate fire protection facilities.

Reference was made during the discussion that hazardous fire conditions at Ridgeley have been called to the attention of county school officials several times in recent years, with no satisfactory improvements being made.

Dressen Quits In Huff As Brooklyn Manager

Demands For 3-Year Pact Turned Down

Dodgers Had Offered One-Year Contract With Salary Hike

BROOKLYN, Oct. 14 (AP)—Manager Charlie Dressen, who directed the Brooklyn Dodgers to two successive pennants only to lose in the World Series, quit in a huff today when his demand for a three-year contract was rejected.

Walter O'Malley, president of the National League champions, said Dressen had been offered a one-year contract "at a substantial increase in salary," but had turned it down.

Would Settle For Two

The 55-year-old Dressen acknowledged he had asked for a three-year pact but said he would be willing to settle for two. He said definitely he would not consider a one-year contract.

He said he planned to talk it over with his wife, who is in a hospital with a stomach disorder.

When asked whether he thought Dressen would reconsider, O'Malley said:

"I hope so, but I don't think so."

"Charlie can sign a contract with me right this minute if he agrees to a one-year term," O'Malley stated, with Dressen at his elbow. "Unless he agrees to sign for one year, however, the Dodgers will have a new manager next year."

O'Malley explained that as long as he is head of the Dodger organization there will never be a change from the policy of one-year contracts.

"I want to repeat, Dressen is not being fired," O'Malley said, "I think he has done a wonderful job for us during the past two seasons."

Dressen Is Bitter

Dressen found it difficult to conceal his bitterness over his failure to come to terms with O'Malley.

"I don't know what to do now," he said. "I have nothing else in mind. After all, there's no other managerial job open unless it is at Baltimore. Maybe I ought to call them up and find out if they would be interested in me.

O'Malley and Dressen said the question of salary was not a factor in Charlie's refusal to come to terms. Another Dodger official revealed that Chuck had asked for $50,000 per season and had been offered $42,500, a boost of $7,500 over his 1953 salary.

Dressen took over the managerial reins at Brooklyn in 1951 after leading Oakland to a Pacific Coast league pennant the previous season.

Reese Surprised At Pilot Ouster

Dodger Captain May Get Manager's Post

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 14 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger Captain Pee Wee Reese said today the ousting of Manager Charlie Dressen as Dodger manager "comes as a surprise to me. I never imagined anything like this would happen."

Reese, reached at his home here, has been mentioned several times as a possible major league manager once his playing days are over. The shortstop is 34.

Reese said:

"I will have to talk with the ball club before I can say anything. I imagine they will get in touch with me if they want me. I wouldn't want to make the first move.

"I always said before that I wouldn't consider a manager's job while I still have some good playing years left. But now this thing ...I don't know...things look a little different now."

No Horse Play

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—J. C. Pollard brushed a fly from his automobile, and the next thing he knew he had bought a race horse.

Seems Pollard swished at the fly just as the auctioneer at the yearling sales was chanting, "I'm bid 48. Do I hear 50?"

Taking Pollard's gesture to be a bid, the auctioneer knocked down the horse to him for $5,000.

Defensive Teams Win In Football

Few Of The Leaders Have Been Defeated

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The switch to the one-platoon system in collegiate football this season hasn't altered the fact that strong defense still is the key to winning football. This point is stressed by figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau which disclose that eight of the top ten teams in this week's major college total defense standings are undefeated.

One of the beaten teams, Southern Methodist, is the defensive leader with 133 yards allowed per game. The Mustangs bowed to Georgia Tech 6-4 for its lone setback and allowed only 33 yards in 32 plays. The other team to taste defeat is ninth-place Kansas, which has lost two out of four games.

The remaining eight schools are undefeated. In order they are second-ranked Yale, Georgia Tech, Navy, UCLA, Syracuse, Auburn, Mississippi State and LSU. However, all but Yale and UCLA have been tied.

As a group the top ten has won 24, lost three and tied seven. In contrast, only five of the ten leading offensive teams still are undefeated.

The same proportion holds true in the rushing defense list. Only Southern Methodist, in second place, and fifth-place Iowa have been beaten. Syracuse, the leader, is unscathed as are Yale, Navy, Holy Cross, Princeton, LSU, Maryland and Georgia Tech.

Alco Jayvees Swamp LaSalle By 34-6 Score

Cecil, Fletcher Star For Little Campers

Rolling almost at will, Allegany High's Jayvees trounced LaSalle's Junior Varsity eleven at Campobello yesterday by a 34 to 6 score.

Ed Cecil and Bob Fletcher were the backfield stars as the Little Campers chalked up their second win this week, having defeated Keyser Monday, 12-0.

Cecil plunged over for two touchdowns while Fletcher recovered a LaSalle fumble that led to an AHS score and intercepted a pass to set up another. Fletcher scored Allegany's initial touchdown on a 10-yard sprint following his pass interception in the first quarter.

Cecil barrelled his way off tackle for the second Campers six-pointer from 15 yards out after a LaSalle fumble was recovered by Fletcher on the Explorer 33.

A brilliant 65-yard return of a punt by Don Perdew for a touchdown gave Allegany a 20-0 lead at halftime and the winners added another pair in the second half before LaSalle scored on the next to last play of the game.

Ronnie Dick's pass to Bob Bennett for 35 yards tallied the fourth touchdown for Coach Jim Hosack's Campers and Cecil banged over from the 18 to cap the scoring drive by the home team.

LaSalle's Bill Buzzard tallied just before the final whistle on a 30-yard run.

Allegany's next game will be at Frostburg when the Beall Jayvees will be met Monday. Next Thursday Keyser will be at Allegany. The lineups:

Key Fort Hill Backs Are Hurt For Handley Tilt

Backfield injuries, which have plagued Fort Hill's city champions since the outset of the season, continue to harass Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels as the Hilltoppers prep for their initial 1953 engagement away from home Saturday with Handley High's undefeated Judges in Winchester, Va.

Already faced with the loss of backfield regulars Jerry Landes and Russ Poling for the season and with Fort Hill's leading scorer, Bob Andrews, on the shelf with a dislocated elbow, Hahn reports Stanley Teets pulled a groin muscle in practice and will not play. Bill Steppe, who replaced Andrews in the backfield, has been ill and missed several practices, Hahn said last night. Also on the Sentinels' disabled list are linemen Neil Bectol, Dale Hillegas and Ed Cookerly.

Hahn will take a squad of 33 players by chartered bus to Winchester, leaving the local school at 9:30 a. m. Saturday for the afternoon clash which will get underway at 2 o'clock.

The Fort Hill band will accompany the team by bus.

Sande Scores First Victory

Comeback Jockey Wins At Jamaica

JAMAICA RACE TRACK, N. Y., Oct. 14 (INS)—A ghost of the past came under the finish wire in front at Jamaica today when the number of Earl Sande went up on the board as winner of the seventh race with Miss Weesie.

The 54-year-old jockey who inspired poetry as the winner of three Kentucky Derbies and other great stakes of another era rode beautifully from flagfall down to the payoff to beat out a modern day great, Eddie Arcaro, aboard Will Be There, in the seventh race. Miss Weesie paid $27.10.

Sande started his comeback because of a need for money only a couple of weeks ago and has flirted with the winner's end several times, and this afternoon on his tenth try, took it all to the accompaniment of an ovation seldom before ever heard by a race-rider.

This time they were not cheering the winner of a great race merely because of his prestige. They cheered a comeback the likes of which the American turf has never known.

"Well, the old man got home, finally, I'm glad," was the sentiment expressed today for the guy who had his career interrupted once for rough riding, who trained Stagehand down to a favorite's start in the Kentucky Derby, only to find his horse ill at the last moment, and who since then was set down as a trainer because a stimulant was found on a bridle in his barn.

Doherty American Association Prexy

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Edward S. Doherty Jr., president of the Louisville Colonels, today was named president of the American Association for the next two years.

Doherty, 53, former newspaperman and Boston Red Sox official, succeeds Bruce Dudley, also of Louisville, whose three-year prexy contract expires Nov. 30. Doherty has a two-year contract starting Dec. 1.

Doherty was elected to the presidency of the Triple A circuit at a meeting of league directors here.

VFW Wins Two

The Mt. Savage VFW defeated Woodmen of the World 2-1 last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Conway was high for the winners with 22 points while McCleaf of WOW had 17.

Undefeated K-C Shufflers Face Champs Tonight

Stadium Inn Battles League Leaders Here

Cumberland's Knights of Columbus and Stadium Inn, Frostburg, the leaders and runners-up in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League, are scheduled to shoot it out in tonight's feature match at the local K. of C. Home.

These clubs have been outstanding since the league was formed and the fur usually flies when they tangle. The Frostburg outfit has won the league title twice in the last three years. In 1950-51 Stadium Inn captured the crown, lost out to the Amvets in the post-season series of 1951-52 and defeated the Amvets in the playoffs last April.

The Knights are undefeated in the current race, owning a 9-0 record while Stadium Inn is tied with Frostburg Legion for second place with 7-2 records.

Frostburg Legion plays host to Mike Miller's of Frostburg (1-8) tonight.

Other matches on tap are Hann's Tavern (3-6) at Goodfellowship Club (4-5), Fisher & Robinette (5-4) at Cumberland Amvets (5-4), Frostburg K. of C. (6-3) at Cumberland V.F.W. (5-4), Hi Dee Club (4-5) at Frostburg Golden Nugget (4-5) and Cas Taylor's (2-7) at Purple Heart Club (6-3).

Bucceroni Wins

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14 (AP) — Dan Bucceroni, using a pounding left hand, dumped Jimmy Slade for a nine-count in the fourth round and then shook off a vicious comeback by the New York Negro to win a unanimous 10-round decision tonight at the arena.

The mule deer is so called because its ears resemble those of a mule.

No Horse Play

AP Newsfeatures

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—J. C. Pollard brushed a fly from his automobile, and the next thing he knew he had bought a race horse.

Seems Pollard swished at the fly just as the auctioneer at the yearling sales was chanting, "I'm bid 48. Do I hear 50?"

Taking Pollard's gesture to be a bid, the auctioneer knocked down the horse to him for $5,000.

FAMILY CONTRAST

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The Bases were loaded, but relief pitcher Charley Spooner was cucumber cool.

The Little League pitcher hurled scoreless baseball for four tense innings and his Vallejo team beat Sacramento 5-4.

Then Charley's excited mother fainted.

Defensive Teams Win In Football

Few Of The Leaders Have Been Defeated

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The switch to the one-platoon system in collegiate football this season hasn't altered the fact that strong defense still is the key to winning football. This point is stressed by figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau which disclose that eight of the top ten teams in this week's major college total defense standings are undefeated.

One of the beaten teams, Southern Methodist, is the defensive leader with 133 yards allowed per game. The Mustangs bowed to Georgia Tech 6-4 for its lone setback and allowed only 33 yards in 32 plays. The other team to taste defeat is ninth-place Kansas, which has lost two out of four games.

The remaining eight schools are undefeated. In order they are second-ranked Yale, Georgia Tech, Navy, UCLA, Syracuse, Auburn, Mississippi State and LSU. However, all but Yale and UCLA have been tied.

As a group the top ten has won 24, lost three and tied seven. In contrast, only five of the ten leading offensive teams still are undefeated.

The same proportion holds true in the rushing defense list. Only Southern Methodist, in second place, and fifth-place Iowa have been beaten. Syracuse, the leader, is unscathed as are Yale, Navy, Holy Cross, Princeton, LSU, Maryland and Georgia Tech.

When he had a change of heart about his game, he had to pay $30 to get them back.

Alco Jayvees Swamp LaSalle By 34-6 Score

Cecil, Fletcher Star For Little Campers

Rolling almost at will, Allegany High's Jayvees trounced LaSalle's Junior Varsity eleven at Campobello yesterday by a 34 to 6 score.

Ed Cecil and Bob Fletcher were the backfield stars as the Little Campers chalked up their second win this week, having defeated Keyser Monday, 12-0.

Cecil plunged over for two touchdowns while Fletcher recovered a LaSalle fumble that led to an AHS score and intercepted a pass to set up another. Fletcher scored Allegany's initial touchdown on a 10-yard sprint following his pass interception in the first quarter.

Cecil barrelled his way off tackle for the second Campers six-pointer from 15 yards out after a LaSalle fumble was recovered by Fletcher on the Explorer 33.

A brilliant 65-yard return of a punt by Don Perdew for a touchdown gave Allegany a 20-0 lead at halftime and the winners added another pair in the second half before LaSalle scored on the next to last play of the game.

Ronnie Dick's pass to Bob Bennett for 35 yards tallied the fourth touchdown for Coach Jim Hosack's Campers and Cecil banged over from the 18 to cap the scoring drive by the home team.

LaSalle's Bill Buzzard tallied just before the final whistle on a 30-yard run.

Allegany's next game will be at Frostburg when the Beall Jayvees will be met Monday. Next Thursday Keyser will be at Allegany. The lineups:

Playing the full 60 minutes, Bohart was a key figure in the Huskies' surprise 13-13 tie with the Trojans.

Key Fort Hill Backs Are Hurt For Handley Tilt

Backfield injuries, which have plagued Fort Hill's city champions since the outset of the season, continue to harass Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels as the Hilltoppers prep for their initial 1953 engagement away from home Saturday with Handley High's undefeated Judges in Winchester, Va.

Already faced with the loss of backfield regulars Jerry Landes and Russ Poling for the season and with Fort Hill's leading scorer, Bob Andrews, on the shelf with a dislocated elbow, Hahn reports Stanley Teets pulled a groin muscle in practice and will not play. Bill Steppe, who replaced Andrews in the backfield, has been ill and missed several practices, Hahn said last night. Also on the Sentinels' disabled list are linemen Neil Bectol, Dale Hillegas and Ed Cookerly.

Hahn will take a squad of 33 players by chartered bus to Winchester, leaving the local school at 9:30 a. m. Saturday for the afternoon clash which will get underway at 2 o'clock.

The Fort Hill band will accompany the team by bus.

Sande Scores First Victory

Comeback Jockey Wins At Jamaica

JAMAICA RACE TRACK, N. Y., Oct. 14 (INS)—A ghost of the past came under the finish wire in front at Jamaica today when the number of Earl Sande went up on the board as winner of the seventh race with Miss Weesie.

The 54-year-old jockey who inspired poetry as the winner of three Kentucky Derbies and other great stakes of another era rode beautifully from flagfall down to the payoff to beat out a modern day great, Eddie Arcaro, aboard Will Be There, in the seventh race. Miss Weesie paid $27.10.

Sande started his comeback because of a need for money only a couple of weeks ago and has flirted with the winner's end several times, and this afternoon on his tenth try, took it all to the accompaniment of an ovation seldom before ever heard by a race-rider.

This time they were not cheering the winner of a great race merely because of his prestige. They cheered a comeback the likes of which the American turf has never known.

"Well, the old man got home, finally, I'm glad," was the sentiment expressed today for the guy who had his career interrupted once for rough riding, who trained Stagehand down to a favorite's start in the Kentucky Derby, only to find his horse ill at the last moment, and who since then was set down as a trainer because a stimulant was found on a bridle in his barn.

Doherty American Association Prexy

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Edward S. Doherty Jr., president of the Louisville Colonels, today was named president of the American Association for the next two years.

Doherty, 53, former newspaperman and Boston Red Sox official, succeeds Bruce Dudley, also of Louisville, whose three-year prexy contract expires Nov. 30. Doherty has a two-year contract starting Dec. 1.

Doherty was elected to the presidency of the Triple A circuit at a meeting of league directors here.

VFW Wins Two

The Mt. Savage VFW defeated Woodmen of the World 2-1 last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Conway was high for the winners with 22 points while McCleaf of WOW had 17.

Undefeated K-C Shufflers Face Champs Tonight

Stadium Inn Battles League Leaders Here

Cumberland's Knights of Columbus and Stadium Inn, Frostburg, the leaders and runners-up in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League, are scheduled to shoot it out in tonight's feature match at the local K. of C. Home.

These clubs have been outstanding since the league was formed and the fur usually flies when they tangle. The Frostburg outfit has won the league title twice in the last three years. In 1950-51 Stadium Inn captured the crown, lost out to the Amvets in the post-season series of 1951-52 and defeated the Amvets in the playoffs last April.

The Knights are undefeated in the current race, owning a 9-0 record while Stadium Inn is tied with Frostburg Legion for second place with 7-2 records.

Frostburg Legion plays host to Mike Miller's of Frostburg (1-8) tonight.

Other matches on tap are Hann's Tavern (3-6) at Goodfellowship Club (4-5), Fisher & Robinette (5-4) at Cumberland Amvets (5-4), Frostburg K. of C. (6-3) at Cumberland V.F.W. (5-4), Hi Dee Club (4-5) at Frostburg Golden Nugget (4-5) and Cas Taylor's (2-7) at Purple Heart Club (6-3).

Bucceroni Wins

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14 (AP) — Dan Bucceroni, using a pounding left hand, dumped Jimmy Slade for a nine-count in the fourth round and then shook off a vicious comeback by the New York Negro to win a unanimous 10-round decision tonight at the arena.

The mule deer is so called because its ears resemble those of a mule.

Final Baseball Pleas Are Heard By High Court

Decision On Reserve Clause Due In Spring

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Attorneys contesting the restrictions of organized baseball told the Supreme Court today that baseball contracts put the players in a position "equal to slavery."

They asked that the game be declared a commercial enterprise within the meaning of the nation's anti-trust laws. This would clear the way for court tests of the player contracts.

Attorneys for baseball replied that baseball is a sport, not a commercial enterprise, and therefore courts have no authority to look into the contracts.

They said contracts are an essential part of baseball and that the kind of contract now in force is necessary for the continued existence of the game.

It was on this note that two days of argument wound up before the nation's highest court. A decision, which could have a sweeping affect on the game, is not expected until spring.

The nine justices seemed particularly interested in the detailed discussions of the televising of ball games, and for a time the argument settled down to a debate on the extent that baseball has moved into the field of advertising.

Attorneys Frederic A. Johnson and Seymour E. Martinson, representing a former minor league player and a minor league club-owner, took the position that radio and TV contracts give baseball owners 25 per cent of their income.

Baseball, Johnson said, has the means of controlling an advertising audience "which I imagine has never been held before since the world began."

Attorney Raymond T. Jackson, representing baseball, replied that radio and TV have no bearing whatsoever on the playing of baseball.

"Baseball clubs do not sell any advertising nor do they do any advertising for anybody," he said. "They merely sell the radio and television rights."

Transfer Suit Again Delayed

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14 (AP) — Trial of a suit to prevent transfer of the Browns from St. Louis to Baltimore was postponed again today, this time to Oct. 26.

No explanation of the postponement, the fourth in three weeks, was given by attorneys who asked Circuit Judge William B. Flynn for the continuance.

Monday five of the seven minority stockholders who brought the suit dropped out.

Make A Play Wins Marguerite Stakes

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — Pin Oak Farm's Make A Play drove to a three-quarter length victory under a masterful ride by Jockey Bennie Green today in Pimlico's $10,000 added Marguerite Stakes.

The two-year-old daughter of War Admiral paid $9, $6.20 and $4.60. In second place was P. Godfrey's O'Alison who finished half a length ahead of Another World.

Lindell, McDermott Top Hitting Pitchers

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Johnny Lindell, a 37-year-old knuckleball pitcher who spent most of his big league career as an outfielder with the New York Yankees, returned to the majors in 1953 and recorded the highest batting average among pitchers.

The Pittsburgh Pirates bought Lindell from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League where he won 24 games in 1952 and displayed a dazzling knuckler. Lindell, however, failed to impress on the mound for Pittsburgh and he was dealt to the Philadelphia Phils at the end of August. His overall pitching record was 6-17, but his batting average was .321.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also show that Maurice McDermott, slender Boston Red Sox southpaw, topped the American League pitchers in batting with a .301 average. Lindell and McDermott were the only pitchers with 50 or more at bats to hit over .300.

50 years of "miracles"...

AND THAT'S ONLY THE BEGINNING!

A half century ago, on December 17, 1903, Orville Wright made the first powered heavier-than-air flight. For twelve history-making seconds he flew over Kitty Hawk in a biplane fueled by the Esso Standard Oil Company.

Since that eventful day, and on into today's new era of screaming jets and zooming rockets, Esso Standard and the rest of the Petroleum Industry have moved forward hand in hand with aviation progress.

That's just one of the reasons why this week is being celebrated throughout the nation as OIL PROGRESS WEEK.

For while ever-improving fuels and lubricants have played a vital part in this astonishingly swift conquest of the skies, so also have improved petroleum products helped bring about the infinitely finer performance of your new automobile, the cleaner, cheaper and warmer heat that you enjoy in your home, and the smoother-flowing, well-lubricated productivity of the factories that produce the things you use. And now, through progress in Petrochemicals, you are entering a new world of miracle plastics and wonder fibres — more new things to serve your needs better and cheaper than ever before.

In short, there's hardly anything that you use or wear that hasn't somehow been made a little better through Petroleum Industry Progress.

So it's no wonder that OIL PROGRESS WEEK is celebrated by the Petroleum Industry and Esso employees and dealers everywhere. It honors the kind of progress that today, for example, brings you automobile gasoline that does 50% more work per gallon than 1925 gasolines did! You'll agree there's really something to celebrate!

Final Baseball Pleas Are Heard By High Court

Decision On Reserve Clause Due In Spring

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Attorneys contesting the restrictions of organized baseball told the Supreme Court today that baseball contracts put the players in a position "equal to slavery."

They asked that the game be declared a commercial enterprise within the meaning of the nation's anti-trust laws. This would clear the way for court tests of the player contracts.

Attorneys for baseball replied that baseball is a sport, not a commercial enterprise, and therefore courts have no authority to look into the contracts.

They said contracts are an essential part of baseball and that the kind of contract now in force is necessary for the continued existence of the game.

It was on this note that two days of argument wound up before the nation's highest court. A decision, which could have a sweeping affect on the game, is not expected until spring.

The nine justices seemed particularly interested in the detailed discussions of the televising of ball games, and for a time the argument settled down to a debate on the extent that baseball has moved into the field of advertising.

Attorneys Frederic A. Johnson and Seymour E. Martinson, representing a former minor league player and a minor league club-owner, took the position that radio and TV contracts give baseball owners 25 per cent of their income.

Baseball, Johnson said, has the means of controlling an advertising audience "which I imagine has never been held before since the world began."

Attorney Raymond T. Jackson, representing baseball, replied that radio and TV have no bearing whatsoever on the playing of baseball.

"Baseball clubs do not sell any advertising nor do they do any advertising for anybody," he said. "They merely sell the radio and television rights."

Monday five of the seven minority stockholders who brought the suit dropped out.

Make A Play Wins Marguerite Stakes

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14 (AP) — Pin Oak Farm's Make A Play drove to a three-quarter length victory under a masterful ride by Jockey Bennie Green today in Pimlico's $10,000 added Marguerite Stakes.

The two-year-old daughter of War Admiral paid $9, $6.20 and $4.60. In second place was P. Godfrey's O'Alison who finished half a length ahead of Another World.

Lindell, McDermott Top Hitting Pitchers

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Johnny Lindell, a 37-year-old knuckleball pitcher who spent most of his big league career as an outfielder with the New York Yankees, returned to the majors in 1953 and recorded the highest batting average among pitchers.

The Pittsburgh Pirates bought Lindell from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League where he won 24 games in 1952 and displayed a dazzling knuckler. Lindell, however, failed to impress on the mound for Pittsburgh and he was dealt to the Philadelphia Phils at the end of August. His overall pitching record was 6-17, but his batting average was .321.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also show that Maurice McDermott, slender Boston Red Sox southpaw, topped the American League pitchers in batting with a .301 average. Lindell and McDermott were the only pitchers with 50 or more at bats to hit over .300.

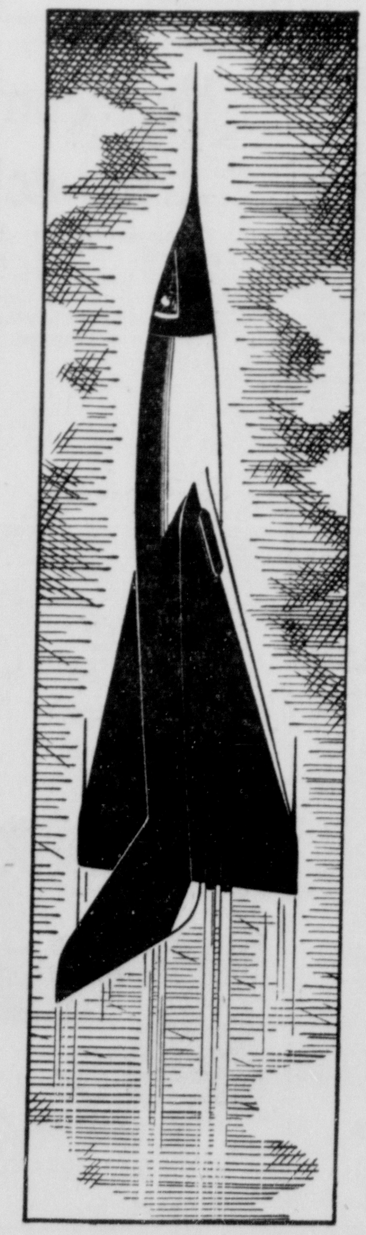
50 years of "miracles"...



AND THAT'S ONLY THE BEGINNING!

A half century ago, on December 17, 1903, Orville Wright made the first powered heavier-than-air flight. For twelve history-making seconds he flew over Kitty Hawk in a biplane fueled by the Esso Standard Oil Company.

Since that eventful day, and on into today's new era of screaming jets and zooming rockets, Esso Standard and the rest of the Petroleum Industry have moved forward hand in hand with aviation progress.

That's just one of the reasons why this week is being celebrated throughout the nation as OIL PROGRESS WEEK.

For while ever-improving fuels and lubricants have played a vital part in this astonishingly swift conquest of the skies, so also have improved petroleum products helped bring about the infinitely finer performance of your new automobile, the cleaner, cheaper and warmer heat that you enjoy in your home, and the smoother-flowing, well-lubricated productivity of the factories that produce the things you use. And now, through progress in Petrochemicals, you are entering a new world of miracle plastics and wonder fibres — more new things to serve your needs better and cheaper than ever before.

In short, there's hardly anything that you use or wear that hasn't somehow been made a little better through Petroleum Industry Progress.

So it's no wonder that OIL PROGRESS WEEK is celebrated by the Petroleum Industry and Esso employees and dealers everywhere. It honors the kind of progress that today, for example, brings you automobile gasoline that does 50% more work per gallon than 1925 gasolines did! You'll agree there's really something to celebrate!

Precipitation Lacking Here

Cumberland is in the grip of a dry spell that has gone 21 days since there was any appreciable amount of rainfall.

R. R. Golden, Weather Bureau observer here, reported that the last rain fell on Cumberland on September 20-21, leaving a total of .26 in that drizzle.

So far this month there has been .07 inch of rain recorded here. The average rainfall for October in Cumberland is 2.53 inches.

Last month the total precipitation was 1.66 inches as compared to the average amount for September of 2.75.

Ahead of this section, according to the average figures compiled by the Weather Bureau are two more dry months. November has the lowest average amount of rainfall of all the months here—2.18 inches while December has 2.47 inches.

The Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior reports the monthly flow of the Potomac River at Paw Paw at its lowest in 15 years, despite a substantial release of water from the Savage River Reservoir.

At Cumberland the height of the North Branch of the Potomac River has been kept up at about a 2.75 foot mark through the release of water from the dam.

The Geological Survey reports that the dam accounted for 65 per cent of the water in the North Branch at the end of September.

$100,000 Damage Result Of Fire At Aurora, W. Va.

A $100,000 fire leveled most of a lumber mill and destroyed hundreds of thousands of board feet of lumber yesterday morning at Aurora, W. Va.

Fire Chief Emory Bolden of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Company said his unit and volunteer companies from Kingwood and Terra Alta, W. Va., fought the blaze for three and one-half hours before bringing it under control.

Elmer and Robert Nine, owners of the sawmill and lumber yard, reported 225,000 board feet of lumber went up in smoke. Of this, 100,000 board feet was seasoned.

Equipment Destroyed

Also ruined were the steam boilers used in seasoning the lumber, three kilns, the saw mill and a building, Chief Bolden said.

The firemen were hampered by a lack of water, the chief reported. Although there were two dams at the mill, both were almost empty because of the drought.

The 50 firemen aided by the sawmill workers succeeded in tearing down piles of lumber in the path of the flames and blocking it off.

After three-and-one-half hours work, the fire was stopped. Saved were a building and some lumber.

Threatened for a time before the blaze was brought under control was the Aurora School 500 feet from the sawmill.

Cause Not Learned

The cause of the fire was not discovered, the chief stated. There had been a fire in the boiler over the night, but it was not definitely determined that this was the source.

Chief Bolden said the high flames, and intense heat made fighting this blaze particularly difficult.

Several older men keeled over from heat and over-exertion, and later recovered. There were no serious injuries, Chief Bolden said, except for minor scratches.

The mill had all modern equipment, the chief said. Only a small amount of insurance was carried on the operation, he added.

The Nine brothers had been in business only a couple of years, the chief reported. Ten years ago he recalled the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department fought a fire on the same location at the same mill then known as the Bland Mill.

The Catholic group is next with 70 students, 17 percent of the regular enrollment. Presbyterians are third in order with 50, 12 percent. Baptists with 36 and the United Brethren with 27 are next with nine percent and seven percent, respectively, of the students.

The remaining 14 percent includes Lutherans, Episcopalians, Brethrens, and others.

Youth Dies In Truck Mishap

KEYSER, W. Va.—A 17-year-old self-employed truck driver died early yesterday morning in Potomac Valley Hospital, of injuries suffered in an accident on U. S. Route 220 two miles south of Keyser.

Killed was Jack Andrew Pancake, son of Mrs. E. K. Aronhalt, New Creek, W. Va., and the late Lester K. Pancake. Hospital attaches said his injuries included a broken neck and fractured skull.

West Virginia State Trooper W. Frank Bowley, who investigated, said the youth was evidently enroute to pick up a load of coal when he ran off the highway, struck a tree and overturned, pinning the driver beneath the cab of the vehicle.

Trooper Bowley arrived at the scene within minutes after the accident occurred and halted a passing motorist to take the youth to the hospital. He died shortly after being admitted, Bowley said.

A life-long resident of the Keyser area, Pancake attended Keyser schools before going to work for himself.

Surviving, besides his mother, are four brothers, M. Bruce Pancake, Stony Run, W. Va.; Lester Pancake, who is stationed with the Air Force in California, and Samuel and Charles Pancake, both of New Creek, and four sisters, Mrs. Eloise Shears and Mrs. Samuel Umstott, both of Keyser; Mrs. Jonna Papaleo, Norfolk, Va., and Miss Barbara Ann Pancake, New Creek.

The body is at the Markwood Funeral Home, Keyser.

Trooper Bowley is of the opinion that a log found at the scene of the accident may have been responsible for the crash.

$100,000 Damage Result Of Fire At Aurora, W. Va.

A $100,000 fire leveled most of a lumber mill and destroyed hundreds of thousands of board feet of lumber yesterday morning at Aurora, W. Va.

Fire Chief Emory Bolden of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Company said his unit and volunteer companies from Kingwood and Terra Alta, W. Va., fought the blaze for three and one-half hours before bringing it under control.

Elmer and Robert Nine, owners of the sawmill and lumber yard, reported 225,000 board feet of lumber went up in smoke. Of this, 100,000 board feet was seasoned.

Equipment Destroyed

Also ruined were the steam boilers used in seasoning the lumber, three kilns, the saw mill and a building, Chief Bolden said.

The firemen were hampered by a lack of water, the chief reported. Although there were two dams at the mill, both were almost empty because of the drought.

The 50 firemen aided by the sawmill workers succeeded in tearing down piles of lumber in the path of the flames and blocking it off.

After three-and-one-half hours work, the fire was stopped. Saved were a building and some lumber.

Threatened for a time before the blaze was brought under control was the Aurora School 500 feet from the sawmill.

Cause Not Learned

The cause of the fire was not discovered, the chief stated. There had been a fire in the boiler over the night, but it was not definitely determined that this was the source.

Chief Bolden said the high flames, and intense heat made fighting this blaze particularly difficult.

Several older men keeled over from heat and over-exertion, and later recovered. There were no serious injuries, Chief Bolden said, except for minor scratches.

The mill had all modern equipment, the chief said. Only a small amount of insurance was carried on the operation, he added.

The Nine brothers had been in business only a couple of years, the chief reported. Ten years ago he recalled the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department fought a fire on the same location at the same mill then known as the Bland Mill.

Keyser Mayor Says Lot Brush Is Fire Menace

Urge Owners To Clear Weeds Away

KEYSER—Mayor John C. Freeland said yesterday many vacant lots are a menace to the people of Keyser, because of the large growth of brush and weeds remaining uncut.

Weeds and brush remain uncut and unattended, although each vacant lot owner is subject to a fine of $10 for first offense, and up to $50 fine for subsequent offenses, each offense being a failure to correct the violation after one offense.

The situation is serious in more than one way, the mayor said. The condition is detrimental to the health of citizens living in the area close to the dried weeds and brush. But, he added, the most serious offense is that in which the lots might be directly or indirectly the cause of fires that might destroy property and injure persons.

Any field covered with uncut weeds, vines and other dried brush, the mayor said, is a serious menace, and especially at this time, as the city water supply is lower now than at any time this year. If a fire should occur in one of these lots, or a series of lots adjoining each other, it might spread to nearby residences and result in considerable property destruction.

The state banned hunting in the forests of the state because of the danger of some hunter dropping a lighted match or a burning cigarette butt, that might cause great destruction of forest lands and nearby homes. But that, he emphasized, is no more serious, from a citizen standpoint, whose homes are closely built adjacent to each other near a lot with dried weeds which could become ignited and the fire could spread rapidly to homes on either side of the lots, causing big property loss and perhaps other damage.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (INS)—Surprise, surprise! Janet Leigh starts Monday with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis in "Living It Up" (formerly "Hazel Flagg") at Paramount.

Paul Jones, the producer, tells me that Janet's is the biggest girl's role ever written into a Martin and Lewis comedy.

MGM wouldn't loan out Janet unless she got top billing—and the comics would hardly protest as Tony Curtis and Janet and the Jerry Lewises are close friends.

Rita Gam almost had this part, so did half a dozen others. But when the curtain goes up next week, little Janet will be center stage with the boys.

All settled for Shelley Winters to co-star in "Mamba" with Vittorio Gassman in Italy. While Ponti De Laurentiis was in Hollywood last week he signed Shell and the Katherine Dunham Dancers. Miss Dunham plays herself and she will also do the choreography.

Tomorrow night Shelley opens in Las Vegas at the Flamingo in an act staged by Songwriter Ray Gilbert. Vittorio will be right by La Winters side to give her encouragement. I'm told Shell was very good in the tryout at Tops Cafe in San Diego.

Judy Garland's dressing room at Warners was jammed with flowers and gifts the first day's shooting on "A Star Is Born." But she was especially touched by four dozen red roses and a "good luck" card from Vincente Minnelli, her ex.

With all the decorating going on at their new Holmby Hills house, Judy and Sid Luft decided to move into a bungalow at the Bel Air Hotel.

It's been a long time since Judy made a picture and among her gifts was a gold medallion from Sid, flowers from her boss, Jack Warner, a gold bracelet from James Mason, and flowers from George Cukor.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Lots of talk about handsome Greg Palmer, who is in "Magnificent Obsession" with Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson. Universal-International is giving Greg a big build-up and hope to have another Tony Curtis and Rock Hudson—that's how pleased the studio is.

Off the record I hear Greg has a very, very serious romance with San Francisco Socialite Jill Farber, whom he has courted since he was a radio announcer in the Bay City. She came to visit him on the "Magnificent Obsession" set. After he finishes the picture he is going to Acapulco to see her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Scott Brady and Nora Eddington Haymes at a very secluded table at Capri. You can bet Scott had his lesson when he was arrested for drunk driving. He loves his mother so much and her distress was his only thought.

Hal Hayes and Kay Williams Spreckels a dinner duo at Romanoff's. Hal is still head man in Kay's life.

Susan Hayward is redecorating her house—the better to forget Jess Barker.

Dean Martin has asked rival Singer Perry Como to be godfather to his new son, and the baptism will be delayed until Perry finds time to fly to Hollywood.

It's a toss-up between Ralph Richardson and Frederic March which one gets "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." James Mason turned it down.

Shirley Booth is suffering from painful abrasions on her knees and a twisted ankle which she received when the heel of her shoe caught on a brick wall and she fell. Shirley has put on weight and she's been told to take a few pounds off.

Art Linkletter changes his show from "People Are Funny" to "Millionaires Are Funny" when he goes to Texas.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS)—Around the world in nothing flat:

Habitues of Chicago's ultra Pump Room, at the Ambassador East, may have been stunned recently to find something in plain English printed on the menus. The menus of this posh beanery have hitherto been exclusively in French or in old English, with so many "f's" replacing "s's" that after one or two character-building Martinis a patron begins to order in the voice of a man having plate trouble.

The new basic English used is a prayer, and with it goes a story. Jimmy Hart, a nice guy who runs the place, stepped out of a burning airplane at a Seattle airport not long ago. Stepped out just in time. He, along with the other passengers, feel they are living now on purely borrowed time.

The incident brought him close enough to the facts of spiritual life that he now is doing what he can to put the thought of prayer in the minds of those with whom he comes in contact.

Jimmy continues to fly about as much as anyone in the country and swears by airlines. But, all in all, he is leading a pretty dangerous life.

He is in New York to attend the annual outing of a club named the Skeeters, and also has been attending executive sessions of the Chuck Wagon Glee Club, another charitable organization. So many of Jimmy's friends are happy he was spared in the crash, and want to propose a toast along those lines, that it is a question whether Jimmy's health will stand up under the toasts to his health.

The Spanish ambassador gave a fine party at the embassy in Washington on Columbus Day, speaking of toasts. And a guy, touching another's glass, said:

"Here's to the discovery of Spain last month by the United States."

With Russia announcing its H-bomb, Britain releasing its hitherto supersecret moving pictures of its A-bomb test, and the top men in Washington engaged in a debate over whether it's an H-bomb or the alarm clock that's ticking in the next room, a Long Island City food firm named Dorset has come through with a sobering answer.

In an exclusive understatement, sent to me, I understand, after Mrs. Roosevelt rejected it, Dorset says:

"Comes the big, bomb, no self-respecting hostess will be unprepared when dinner time comes around, since an 'atomic emergency food box' is now available. It takes into consideration the lack of such aids to cookery as gas, water or electricity (Ed. note: and, presumably, an appetite.) Consequently, the canned items—soups and meats—are ready to serve as is. The meat can be eaten cold; the soups are not condensed, requiring no water. Can opener enclosed."

Ah, the happy atomic future!

Col. Andres Soriano, leading American businessman in the Philippines, has been having a severe time trying to explain that he is not for or against any of the leading candidates in the forthcoming Philippine elections.

In a wire to a writer who recently put him in the camp of Ramon Magsaysay, Soriano said: "As an American citizen I am in no position to participate in political activities of the Philippines. As an American, I share view official American position Philippine election is solely the Philippines responsibility. I have implicit faith the decision which the Filipinos will make November elections will serve their best interest and those of their country's and will assure continuance of friendship between U. S. and Philippines."

All users of street cars in Czechoslovakia now are undergoing lessons in Russian. Two letters from Russia's 36-letter alphabet are posted in the cars each week, and the customers are expected to learn—or else.

Could lead to readin', ritin' and rebellion.

Barclay On Bridge

BELIEVE PARTNER FIRST

WHEN YOUR partner leads what is clearly his lowest card of an unbid suit, at any stage during the defense against a No Trump game contract, there is of course the possibility that it is from three topped by an honor. More often, however, it will be his fourth-best, if he is a good player, and he selects it as an aid to you in counting the declarer's holding as well as his own. Sometimes it is hard to believe his lead is conventional, especially if it shows declarer with an unlikely holding. But in a doubtful question, it will usually pay to treat your partner as telling the truth.

	♠ J 10 8 5 ♥ K Q 9 2 ♦ 8 3 ♣ 6 4 2
♠ 9 6 3 2 ♥ A 7 4 ♦ 9 7 4 2 ♣ 9 3	N W E S	♠ K 7 4 ♥ J 5 3 ♦ A K J 10 6 ♣ J 10
	♠ A Q ♥ 10 8 6 ♦ Q 5 ♣ A K Q 8 7 5

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 NT

East and West didn't know it, but South was gamble-minded at the moment. He opened with 1-No Trump instead of 1-Club because he was shooting for top scores in a duplicate tournament. If North happened to respond with diamonds or hearts, he was prepared to hazard his weakness in the other red suit against the asset of his unshown solid clubs.

West made his natural lead of the unbid major, his spade 2, the 8 bringing the K and A. Hoping to sneak a heart trick through at once, so that he then could run enough tricks, he led the 6. West, however, came right in with the A and switched to the diamond 2 to the K. South felt himself slipping then, until he saw East go into a blue study.

After weighing all the alternatives, East decided South would not have bid as he did with nothing in diamonds except a doubleton Q, so he must have another card of the suit and West only three instead of four. The best chance to bring in the diamonds, therefore, East figured, was to lead the J and be ready to take the rest when West eventually got the lead again, probably in clubs. Delighted when his diamond Q won the trick, South then ran his sure tricks to have a total of eleven. If East had depended on West to have the four diamonds his lead indicated, and had laid down his A on the second round, the defenders would have beaten South two tricks.

NEW YORK (INS)—Around the world in nothing flat:

Habitues of Chicago's ultra Pump Room, at the Ambassador East, may have been stunned recently to find something in plain English printed on the menus. The menus of this posh beanery have hitherto been exclusively in French or in old English, with so many "f's" replacing "s's" that after one or two character-building Martinis a patron begins to order in the voice of a man having plate trouble.

The new basic English used is a prayer, and with it goes a story. Jimmy Hart, a nice guy who runs the place, stepped out of a burning airplane at a Seattle airport not long ago. Stepped out just in time. He, along with the other passengers, feel they are living now on purely borrowed time.

The incident brought him close enough to the facts of spiritual life that he now is doing what he can to put the thought of prayer in the minds of those with whom he comes in contact.

Jimmy continues to fly about as much as anyone in the country and swears by airlines. But, all in all, he is leading a pretty dangerous life.

He is in New York to attend the annual outing of a club named the Skeeters, and also has been attending executive sessions of the Chuck Wagon Glee Club, another charitable organization. So many of Jimmy's friends are happy he was spared in the crash, and want to propose a toast along those lines, that it is a question whether Jimmy's health will stand up under the toasts to his health.

The Spanish ambassador gave a fine party at the embassy in Washington on Columbus Day, speaking of toasts. And a guy, touching another's glass, said:

"Here's to the discovery of Spain last month by the United States."

With Russia announcing its H-bomb, Britain releasing its hitherto supersecret moving pictures of its A-bomb test, and the top men in Washington engaged in a debate over whether it's an H-bomb or the alarm clock that's ticking in the next room, a Long Island City food firm named Dorset has come through with a sobering answer.

In an exclusive understatement, sent to me, I understand, after Mrs. Roosevelt rejected it, Dorset says:

"Comes the big, bomb, no self-respecting hostess will be unprepared when dinner time comes around, since an 'atomic emergency food box' is now available. It takes into consideration the lack of such aids to cookery as gas, water or electricity (Ed.' note: and, presumably, an appetite.) Consequently, the canned items—soups and meats—are ready to serve as is. The meat can be eaten cold; the soups are not condensed, requiring no water. Can opener enclosed."

Ah, the happy atomic future!

Col. Andres Soriano, leading American businessman in the Philippines, has been having a severe time trying to explain that he is not for or against any of the leading candidates in the forthcoming Philippine elections.

In a wire to a writer who recently put him in the camp of Ramon Magsaysay, Soriano said: "As an American citizen I am in no position to participate in political activities of the Philippines. As an American, I share view official American position Philippine election is solely the Philippines responsibility. I have implicit faith the decision which the Filipinos will make November elections will serve their best interest and those of their country's and will assure continuance of friendship between U. S. and Philippines."

All users of street cars in Czechoslovakia now are undergoing lessons in Russian. Two letters from Russia's 36-letter alphabet are posted in the cars each week, and the customers are expected to learn—or else.

Could lead to readin', ritin' and rebellion.

Barclay On Bridge

BELIEVE PARTNER FIRST

WHEN YOUR partner leads what is clearly his lowest card of an unbid suit, at any stage during the defense against a No Trump game contract, there is of course the possibility that it is from three topped by an honor. More often, however, it will be his fourth-best, if he is a good player, and he selects it as an aid to you in counting the declarer's holding as well as his own. Sometimes it is hard to believe his lead is conventional, especially if it shows declarer with an unlikely holding. But in a doubtful question, it will usually pay to treat your partner as telling the truth.

	♠ J 10 8 5 ♥ K Q 9 2 ♦ 8 3 ♣ 6 4 2
♠ 9 6 3 2 ♥ A 7 4 ♦ 9 7 4 2 ♣ 9 3	N W E S	♠ K 7 4 ♥ J 5 3 ♦ A K J 10 6 ♣ J 10
	♠ A Q ♥ 10 8 6 ♦ Q 5 ♣ A K Q 8 7 5

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 NT

East and West didn't know it, but South was gamble-minded at the moment. He opened with 1-No Trump instead of 1-Club because he was shooting for top scores in a duplicate tournament. If North happened to respond with diamonds or hearts, he was prepared to hazard his weakness in the other red suit against the asset of his unshown solid clubs.

West made his natural lead of the unbid major, his spade 2, the 8 bringing the K and A. Hoping to sneak a heart trick through at once, so that he then could run enough tricks, he led the 6. West, however, came right in with the A and switched to the diamond 2 to the K. South felt himself slipping then, until he saw East go into a blue study.

After weighing all the alternatives, East decided South would not have bid as he did with nothing in diamonds except a doubleton Q, so he must have another card of the suit and West only three instead of four. The best chance to bring in the diamonds, therefore, East figured, was to lead the J and be ready to take the rest when West eventually got the lead again, probably in clubs. Delighted when his diamond Q won the trick, South then ran his sure tricks to have a total of eleven. If East had depended on West to have the four diamonds his lead indicated, and had laid down his A on the second round, the defenders would have beaten South two tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 9 7 3 ♥ A Q 6 4 ♦ A 2 ♣ 10 5 3 2
♠ A 10 8 4 2 ♥ J ♦ 9 6 ♣ K J 7 6 4	N W E S	♠ Q J 6 ♥ 8 7 2 ♦ Q 10 7 5 4 3 ♣ Q
	♠ K 5 ♥ K 10 9 5 3 ♦ K J 8 ♣ A 9 8

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

What would you consider the expert bidding of this tournament deal?

Sewage Station Put In Service On East Side

Will Serve Homes Bedford St. Area

The Bedford - Frederick Street Sewage Ejector Station has been placed into service, Mrs. Lucile W Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday.

The completion of the station will mean that sewage service may be provided to some 50 homes in the Bedford - Frederick Street area which lacked the service because areas were too low for lines to drain by gravity.

The sewage ejector station was built by the George Construction Company under a $24,316.75 contract.

The entire project will cost considerably more, since the city must provide two more sewer lines to service the area.

The station will pump sanitary sewage from the area north of Fectig Avenue. At Fectig Avenue, the wastes will drain by gravity into main sewer lines leading toward the downtown area.

To Issue Permits

Mrs. Roeder pointed out that the station is designed only for sanitary sewage and cannot take care of storm water, and residents cannot connect rain spouts to the lines serviced by the ejector station.

The city attorney has prepared affidavits which property owners must sign before tapping on the sewers servicing the Bedford Road and Frederick Street area. It reads:

"(I) or (we), the undersigned, having made an application for a sewer tap with the City Engineer's office of the City of Cumberland, herewith acknowledge that (i) or (we) (am) or (are) familiar with Section 12, Chapter 21 of the Code of the City of Cumberland, which prohibits the connection of rain leaders and spouting with any public sewers or with any private sewers emptying into public sewers, and that (I) or (we) have been informed that any violation of the aforesaid Section 12 is punishable by a fine of $25 to $100."

Can Be Tapped

An available sewage line serviced by the ejector station can be tapped immediately by residents of both sides of Frederick Street from Fectig Avenue to the city line.

On Monday, city crews will begin the installation of a line to take care of the lower side of Bedford Road to the city line.

Upon the completion of this line, another line will be laid to take care of all sewage on the west side of Bedford Road.

Officials recalled that during WPA days, Frederick Street was opened from Fectig Avenue to the city line, and a 10-inch sanitary sewer was laid in the bed of the street.

Must Be Pumped

The line has been inactive until now, however, since the grade was away from town, This meant that the city would have to collect the sewage and pump it over the high point at Fectig, where it could drain into a main interceptor sewer.

Now that the station is completed, it is possible for all Frederick Street properties north of Fectig to tap into the now active line.

On Monday, the city plans to begin installing new line which will run in an alley at the rear of the property on the east side of Bedford Street between Bopp Avenue and Edward Avenue.

Upon the completion of that line, a line will be run along the west side of Bedford between Miller Avenue and the city line to serve houses on the west side of Bedford Street.

Could This Be You?

This is a lesson in how to commit suicide. This fellow, who is reasonably safety-minded in other ways, probably wouldn't dream of making a left turn in traffic without signalling. But puffing a cigarette while reading his paper in bed seems to him to be a natural enough thing to do. It is—and so is dozing. The hundreds of people who have died this way probably didn't know they were taking a chance either. Smoking in bed is one of the many dangers being emphasized this week during the fifth annual observance of Allegany County Safety Week.

Cumberland Civic Theater Is Formed At Rec Meeting

The City Recreation Department added dramatics to its program in Cumberland last night with the formation of the Cumberland Civic Theater.

The community theatre group was organized at a meeting in City Hall, with 24 members present.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, presided and explained the aims of the group which will be directed by Harold C. Wickard, Allegany High School instructor and veteran director.

Mrs. Jane H. Schwab was elected president; Miss Paula Williams, vice president, and Miss Helen Gilmore, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting of the group will be called when two plays under consideration arrive.

Named to the play reading committee, which will screen plays to be considered by the amateur dramatic group, were Mrs. Irma Dezen, Miss Williams, Ed Myer and Wickard.

The committee met following the general session and selected two plays for the initial productions. They are "Ring Around Elizabeth" and "Detective Story."

Both plays will be cast when copies arrive, with the casts alternating as stage crews for each other.

Named to the Publicity Committee were William R. Holt, Mrs. Marian Hull, Myer, and Mrs. Betty Lou Myer.

The plays will be presented in Allegany High School auditorium. Present plans call for rehearsing in City Hall auditorium.

Pence emphasized that the theater group is still open for membership and that interested persons may enroll by contacting the Recreation Department or coming to the next meeting, which will be held when the plays arrive.

The theater group Pence said, will not compete with organizations which sponsor annual shows, or with road companies. The purpose will be purely recreational, he added.

The formation of the Cumberland Civic Theatre will give Cumberland its first community theater since Theatre Gate in 1946-47.

Airport Hangars To Be Repaired

Repairs on 15 hangars at the Cumberland Municipal Airport will get under way on Monday, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Mayor Eves said the Cement Products Company, which was awarded the contract for furnishing 15 bar-joist trusses for the hangars, promised delivery in 30 days, but will make deliveries on Friday, 16 days after the contract was awarded.

Charles F. Heller, superintendent of maintenance at the airport, has been busy the past few days getting materials ready for the work, and expects to begin installation of the trusses Monday.

Returned POW Will Be Married

Sergeant First Class James Andrew Alt, 27-year-old Petersburg, W. Va., soldier, who was released from a prisoner of war camp in Korea September 1, yesterday obtained a marriage license in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Sgt. Alt and Miss Virginia Lee Mitchell, also of Petersburg, obtained the license after attaches in the clerk's office granted them a waiver of the usual 48-hour waiting period. The Petersburg soldier is now stationed at Fort Meade. Servicemen traditionally are granted waiver of the waiting period.

Slack In Business Hits Celanese Plants

In view of the continuing slack business in the textile industry, it has been necessary to make additional furloughs at all of the company's yarn plants, according to a statement by R. F. Thompson, plant manager at Amcelle.

Some departments may have to be closed temporarily to avoid the accumulation of excessive inventories, and to meet the increasing competition in the industry, the company may find it necessary to consolidate some of its operations. This consolidation will necessitate the relocation of certain equipment from one plant to another.

Such a plan contemplates the continuance of present business conditions in the industry for an indefinite period. However, present plans will be subject to change to meet any increased demand for acetate products in the future.

To Open Wage Talks

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will open wage talks with the Celanese Corporation at a meeting in the Amcelle plant Friday at 10:30 a. m. The discussion was asked by the union under the second of two reopening clauses in its contract, according to Neil Toey, president.

Keyser Woman Arrested On Bigamy Charge

Alleged Second Mate Is Held

A girl listed by police as Betty Lou Evans, 18, of Keyser, W. Va., yesterday afternoon was arrested by State Trooper W. Frank Bowley in Keyser and was lodged in the Mineral County Jail on a bigamy charge.

Trooper Bowley charges that the girl married Jerald W. Conrad, 24, also of Keyser, last December in Woodstock, Va., while still legally married to Henry Owen Hicks. Miss Evans and Hicks were alleged to have been married in Jeffersonville, Ind., in 1950. Hicks has been overseas since last year.

Since December, said Bowley, the girl and Conrad have resided in Detroit and Lancaster, Pa.

While the girl is in Mineral County Jail awaiting a preliminary hearing, Conrad is an inmate of the Bedford County (Pa.) Jail.

Conrad was arrested Monday as he stepped from a bus in Bedford after the girl told police that he had threatened her. Conrad will be charged with possession of a concealed weapon. He said he carried it because he was "afraid the girl's husband would kill me."

Embassy Plans Reopening Today

The renovated Embassy Theater on Baltimore Street will reopen at noon today with the showing of a double-feature program.

The theater, closed since last May, is being reopened by a local company with Edger Growden as manager. To be known as the Embassy Theater Corporation, the new firm is leasing the theater building from Mrs. Lena Kauffman, who also has an interest in the new company.

Officials note that many of the theater seats have been reupholstered and new plumbing has been installed. Parts of the theater's interior have been repainted and new mirrors placed in the lobby.

The marquee has also been repainted. The management expects to change the program three times a week. A new pricing system is to go into effect, with a children's price up to 12 years of age, an intermediate price slightly higher for students and a price range for adults.

City Seeks Site For Pump House

Action on a site owned by Charles A. Roeder was deferred by the Mayor and Council Monday at the request of Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, who reported the matter is in process of negotiation.

Roeder offered to lease the land to the city for 20 years, with renewal privilege for the same period, plus an easement for the pipe line, for an annual rental of $60.

Flames Destroy Walnut Ridge Residence

One-Armed Man Loses His Home

A six-room resident frame house belonging to David McMillen, one-armed Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker, was destroyed by fire on Walnut Ridge yesterday morning.

McMillen, his wife and friends managed to save most of the furniture from the four first-floor rooms but their clothing and all other belongings on the second floor were lost.

Find Lodging

The McMillens and their six children have found temporary accomodations in an unoccupied three-room house about one mile from their home. Neighbors loaned them clothing and food to see them through their emergency.

Charles Merritt, who drove the North Branch Volunteer Fire Department pumper to the fire, said the second floor of the house was burning fiercely when he arrived. He explained that second floor windows had been smashed and that the resulting draft fed the flames.

Merritt reported that the pumper was equipped with only a 275- gallon tank and there was no ready supply of water at the scene. About all the North Branch firemen could do was to keep the blaze from spreading to nearby woods from where it soon would have carried to three neighboring houses.

A second pumper from North Branch and one from Bowman's Addition also were sent to the fire. Last of the firemen left Walnut Ridge about 2 p. m. after having assurance that the flames would not spread.

Drives To Store

The fire apparently started about 10 a. m. McMillen, who had no phone in his home, drove several miles to the general store of Mrs. Albert F. Wolfe along Oldtown Road. Along the way he asked neighbors to help him fight the blaze, and at Mrs. Wolfe's he borrowed a fire extinguisher and she called firemen for assistance. They got the call about 10:30 a. m.

Although McMillen was uncertain about the cause of the fire that destroyed his home he said that it appeared to have started on the second floor near where the wires from outside enter the house. The loss reportedly was partially covered by insurance.

Four of the six McMillen children were in school when the fire started. All of the family managed to get out of the house without injury.

Many Benefits Lost Because Of Late SS Filing

Social Security Head Urges Prompt Action

Family income running into hundreds of dollars is lost every month because eligible persons are not applying for their social security benefits promptly, James E. Robertson, manager of the local Social Security Office, said yesterday.

A main reason for these losses, he pointed out, is a lack of understanding of the new provisions of the law. For instance, benefits can now be paid to minor children of deceased mothers who were working in covered employment at the time of death.

Such benefits may be paid even though the father survives and continues working. But benefits must be applied for by someone responsible for the children's welfare before any payments can be made, he explained.

Robertson cited the case of a young widower who recently applied for benefits for his two minor children, based on the wage record of their mother who died in July 1951.

Lost $500 In Benefits

He didn't get around to filing the claim until July 1953. Although each child could have received checks for $15.70 every month since July, 1951, Robertson declared, the Social Security Administration can pay for only six months back from the month of filing.

Thus this family lost a total of $571.20—checks for 18 months — because no one applied for benefits and no one informed the local Social Security office of the death.

Incomplete understanding of other provisions of the Social Security law is responsible for delays in filing. Among these, Robertson said, are benefits payable to widows and minor children of men who died in service.

Since the law now gives wage credits for time spent in active service at any time from September 16, 1940, and before July 1, 1955, all widows or such veterans should inquire concerning eligibility for benefits.

Retirees Included

Self-employed persons who are past 65 are now fully insured under the law if they have reported net earnings for the past two years. Many of these self-employed persons, Robertson added, could have filed applications for benefits at any time since last July and could be drawing benefit payments now.

These include the self-employed who are past the 65-year age and are still operating their trade or business, but making less than $900 net earnings a year. The law considers them retired if net earnings do not average over $75 a month.

Robertson stressed no loss need occur if workers will inquire at their Social Security office when they first begin to think about retiring, and if someone in the family will immediately contact the office when someone in the family dies.

The local Social Security office is located on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed Tuesday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Helen R. Ames by her mother and next friend, Beulah Emerick, vs. Dale B. Ames.

Three Companies Fight Blaze In Hyndman Home

Damage Is Set At $4,000

Three volunteer fire companies, hindered by a water supply problem, yesterday afternoon fought a blaze which gutted two rooms of a Hyndman, Pa., home and caused damage estimated at about $4,000.

The home on Locust Street in the north end of the community was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas and their two daughters. No one was injured.

The fire, according to Hyndman Fire Chief Arden Fichtner, was disiovered about 4:40 p. m. and the cause was determined as an overheated furnace pipe.

The blaze was reported to have started in the kitchen at the rear of the house. Then it ate its way up into a second floor bedroom.

Most of the furnishings of these rooms were destroyed by fire and much damage was caused in the rest of the house by water and smoke.

Volunteer firemen from Hyndman, Corriganville, and Ellerslie went to the scene as six pieces of fire-fighting equipment were put to use. Since the firemen were faced with the lack of an ample supply of water 1,500 feet of hose was laid by Hyndman firemen from Wills Creek to the burning structure.

Meanwhile the volunteers from the other two communities used their storage water tanks as some water from the reservoir was used. The blaze was brought under control about 5:15 p. m.

Some of the household furniture and clothing were carried outside the burning building by the Thomas family and residents of Hyndman. Fichtner said that damage to the two-story, six-room frame building was about $2,000, and to the furnishings, another $2,000. The structure, reported to have been covered by insurance, is owned by Robert Brooks, who is now employed in Baltimore.

Mrs. Thomas was reported to have lost her diamond ring and most of her clothing during the afternoon blaze. The family will be housed temporarily in the homes of friends at Hyndman.

Experienced Wood Workers Needed

Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the industrial development department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, yesterday said a local firm is in need of a number of experienced wood workers.

Immediately wanted, Hargreaves added, are 10 experienced cabinet makers and two wood finishers.

Interested persons who qualify may make application and obtain further information by visiting the Chamber's Industrial Promotion Office, Room 503, Liberty Trust Building.

Town Officials Say They Will "Sit Tight"

Ralph Frantz, one of two members of the Ridgeley Town Council whose posts were declared vacant by town officials Tuesday night, reported yesterday "We're just going to sit tight."

Frantz said he would not make a formal statement on the matter at present.

He added that both he and William Knieriem, the other council member involved in the controversy, believe the Council has no authority to "fire" them.

The positions held by Frantz and Knieriem were declared vacant on Tuesday when they failed to give cause of their failure to attend council meetings.

The Council delayed the appointment of their successors until November 3.

Salvation Army Fund Campaign Gets Underway

Heads Set Goal At $19,500

The Salvation Army fund campaign got underway last night with the Advanced Gifts committee meeting at the Citadel and announcement that the campaign's goal is $19,500.

The first report meeting of the Advanced Gifts group will be held Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the Citadel. The Advanced Gifts goal is $14,000.

Adolf Blunk, general campaign chairman, outlined plans for the drive and introduced Lewis J. Ort, chairman of the Army's Advisory Board. Ort stated the Army campaign for funds to operate through the year 1954 is just like any other campaign, but in many aspects is completely different. He pointed out that the success of this drive will have far reaching effects in the human work of the Army.

Introducing Capt. and Mrs. Daniel K. Biggs, commanding officer of the Army, and Lt. Harry Powell, commanding officer of the South Cumberland Corps, Ort described them as "people devoted to the cause of humanity."

Blunk Outlines Plan

Blunk outlined the job of raising enough money to continue the Army's program here.

Rev. Seth C. Morrow, an Advisory Board member, told the workers why the Salvation Army withdrew from the Community Chest.

"The answer is very simple," he declared. "The Army, through the Chest, could not get enough money to carry on an effective program that is desperately needed in Cumberland."

He explained that the Army was allocated $14,000 in this year's Chest budget, and had to reject it because it was not enough. He pointed out that in 1930 and 1931, the Army had a Chest quota of $14,500, and that, in 1929, it was allowed $14,225. He asked how if it cost that much to operate the Army in the years when a dollar was not deflated it can operate for less now?

Life Saving Agency

Rev. Morrow declared the Army now operates the South End Corps which it did not have in 1929, 30 and 31. And yet today, he outlined, "the Army is doing more with less.

"It must be remembered," he continued, "that the Salvation Army is a life saving agency, important to the moral tone of the whole community."

Members of the Advanced Gifts committee, which is to begin solicitation today, include Daniel Browne, Robert W. Young, Kenneth H. Mahaney, Glenn Morris, Lloyd S. McNeil, Carl R. Amtower, Norman E. Chirdon, R. G. Robeson, Albert H. Macy, Rev. Seth C. Morrow, Adolf Blunk, Lewis J. Ort, C. N. Wilkinson, David M. Watson, A. DePollo, R. Appel, J. H. Stitely, Daniel J. Dopko, Ralph A. Knieriem, H. Clifford Spiker, George E. North, George Butts, R. L. Spiker, Garnett Davis, Charles Patterson, Ray Hamner, F. Allan Weatherholt, Robert L. Davis, George Millenson, Paul D. Pickens, Ray Cunningham, Robert Schubert, Russell Pancake, James Scarpelli, K. O. Christner, John Conway, Capt. Daniel Biggs and Lt. Harry Powell, Howard E. Douglas, John H. Newhouse, Donald Kalbaugh and William C. Hiser.

McCutchen Changes Mind About Post Here

Frederic M. McCutchen, who was supposed to have reported here September 28 as new supervisor of special education in the Allegany County public school system, has changed his mind and will not accept the county position, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

McCutchen wired Webster from Coral Gables, Fla., that it would be impossible to accept the post here. No further information has been received from the man who was a naval lieutenant at Bainbridge Naval Training Center before being released from service September 24.

For the time being the job that was filled by Dr. Ralph E. Kessler before his resignation September 14 will remain unfilled, Webster added. Dr. Kessler is now supervisor of special education in Baltimore County.

Sewage Station Put In Service On East Side

Will Serve Homes Bedford St. Area

The Bedford - Frederick Street Sewage Ejector Station has been placed into service, Mrs. Lucile W Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday.

The completion of the station will mean that sewage service may be provided to some 50 homes in the Bedford - Frederick Street area which lacked the service because areas were too low for lines to drain by gravity.

The sewage ejector station was built by the George Construction Company under a $24,316.75 contract.

The entire project will cost considerably more, since the city must provide two more sewer lines to service the area.

The station will pump sanitary sewage from the area north of Fectig Avenue. At Fectig Avenue, the wastes will drain by gravity into main sewer lines leading toward the downtown area.

To Issue Permits

Mrs. Roeder pointed out that the station is designed only for sanitary sewage and cannot take care of storm water, and residents cannot connect rain spouts to the lines serviced by the ejector station.

The city attorney has prepared affidavits which property owners must sign before tapping on the sewers servicing the Bedford Road and Frederick Street area. It reads:

"(I) or (we), the undersigned, having made an application for a sewer tap with the City Engineer's office of the City of Cumberland, herewith acknowledge that (i) or (we) (am) or (are) familiar with Section 12, Chapter 21 of the Code of the City of Cumberland, which prohibits the connection of rain leaders and spouting with any public sewers or with any private sewers emptying into public sewers, and that (I) or (we) have been informed that any violation of the aforesaid Section 12 is punishable by a fine of $25 to $100."

Can Be Tapped

An available sewage line serviced by the ejector station can be tapped immediately by residents of both sides of Frederick Street from Fectig Avenue to the city line.

On Monday, city crews will begin the installation of a line to take care of the lower side of Bedford Road to the city line.

Upon the completion of this line, another line will be laid to take care of all sewage on the west side of Bedford Road.

Officials recalled that during WPA days, Frederick Street was opened from Fectig Avenue to the city line, and a 10-inch sanitary sewer was laid in the bed of the street.

Must Be Pumped

The line has been inactive until now, however, since the grade was away from town, This meant that the city would have to collect the sewage and pump it over the high point at Fectig, where it could drain into a main interceptor sewer.

Now that the station is completed, it is possible for all Frederick Street properties north of Fectig to tap into the now active line.

On Monday, the city plans to begin installing new line which will run in an alley at the rear of the property on the east side of Bedford Street between Bopp Avenue and Edward Avenue.

Upon the completion of that line, a line will be run along the west side of Bedford between Miller Avenue and the city line to serve houses on the west side of Bedford Street.

Could This Be You?

This is a lesson in how to commit suicide. This fellow, who is reasonably safety-minded in other ways, probably wouldn't dream of making a left turn in traffic without signalling. But puffing a cigarette while reading his paper in bed seems to him to be a natural enough thing to do. It is—and so is dozing. The hundreds of people who have died this way probably didn't know they were taking a chance either. Smoking in bed is one of the many dangers being emphasized this week during the fifth annual observance of Allegany County Safety Week.

Cumberland Civic Theater Is Formed At Rec Meeting

The City Recreation Department added dramatics to its program in Cumberland last night with the formation of the Cumberland Civic Theater.

The community theatre group was organized at a meeting in City Hall, with 24 members present.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, presided and explained the aims of the group which will be directed by Harold C. Wickard, Allegany High School instructor and veteran director.

Mrs. Jane H. Schwab was elected president; Miss Paula Williams, vice president, and Miss Helen Gilmore, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting of the group will be called when two plays under consideration arrive.

Named to the play reading committee, which will screen plays to be considered by the amateur dramatic group, were Mrs. Irma Dezen, Miss Williams, Ed Myer and Wickard.

The committee met following the general session and selected two plays for the initial productions. They are "Ring Around Elizabeth" and "Detective Story."

Both plays will be cast when copies arrive, with the casts alternating as stage crews for each other.

Named to the Publicity Committee were William R. Holt, Mrs. Marian Hull, Myer, and Mrs. Betty Lou Myer.

The plays will be presented in Allegany High School auditorium. Present plans call for rehearsing in City Hall auditorium.

Pence emphasized that the theater group is still open for membership and that interested persons may enroll by contacting the Recreation Department or coming to the next meeting, which will be held when the plays arrive.

The theater group Pence said, will not compete with organizations which sponsor annual shows, or with road companies. The purpose will be purely recreational, he added.

The formation of the Cumberland Civic Theatre will give Cumberland its first community theater since Theatre Gate in 1946-47.

The Petersburg soldier is now stationed at Fort Meade. Servicemen traditionally are granted waiver of the waiting period.

Slack In Business Hits Celanese Plants

In view of the continuing slack business in the textile industry, it has been necessary to make additional furloughs at all of the company's yarn plants, according to a statement by R. F. Thompson, plant manager at Amcelle.

Some departments may have to be closed temporarily to avoid the accumulation of excessive inventories, and to meet the increasing competition in the industry, the company may find it necessary to consolidate some of its operations. This consolidation will necessitate the relocation of certain equipment from one plant to another.

Such a plan contemplates the continuance of present business conditions in the industry for an indefinite period. However, present plans will be subject to change to meet any increased demand for acetate products in the future.

To Open Wage Talks

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will open wage talks with the Celanese Corporation at a meeting in the Amcelle plant Friday at 10:30 a. m. The discussion was asked by the union under the second of two reopening clauses in its contract, according to Neil Toey, president.

Keyser Woman Arrested On Bigamy Charge

Alleged Second Mate Is Held

A girl listed by police as Betty Lou Evans, 18, of Keyser, W. Va., yesterday afternoon was arrested by State Trooper W. Frank Bowley in Keyser and was lodged in the Mineral County Jail on a bigamy charge.

Trooper Bowley charges that the girl married Jerald W. Conrad, 24, also of Keyser, last December in Woodstock, Va., while still legally married to Henry Owen Hicks. Miss Evans and Hicks were alleged to have been married in Jeffersonville, Ind., in 1950. Hicks has been overseas since last year.

Since December, said Bowley, the girl and Conrad have resided in Detroit and Lancaster, Pa.

While the girl is in Mineral County Jail awaiting a preliminary hearing, Conrad is an inmate of the Bedford County (Pa.) Jail.

Conrad was arrested Monday as he stepped from a bus in Bedford after the girl told police that he had threatened her. Conrad will be charged with possession of a concealed weapon. He said he carried it because he was "afraid the girl's husband would kill me."

Flames Destroy Walnut Ridge Residence

One-Armed Man Loses His Home

A six-room resident frame house belonging to David McMillen, one-armed Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker, was destroyed by fire on Walnut Ridge yesterday morning.

McMillen, his wife and friends managed to save most of the furniture from the four first-floor rooms but their clothing and all other belongings on the second floor were lost.

Find Lodging

The McMillens and their six children have found temporary accomodations in an unoccupied three-room house about one mile from their home. Neighbors loaned them clothing and food to see them through their emergency.

Charles Merritt, who drove the North Branch Volunteer Fire Department pumper to the fire, said the second floor of the house was burning fiercely when he arrived. He explained that second floor windows had been smashed and that the resulting draft fed the flames.

Merritt reported that the pumper was equipped with only a 275- gallon tank and there was no ready supply of water at the scene. About all the North Branch firemen could do was to keep the blaze from spreading to nearby woods from where it soon would have carried to three neighboring houses.

A second pumper from North Branch and one from Bowman's Addition also were sent to the fire. Last of the firemen left Walnut Ridge about 2 p. m. after having assurance that the flames would not spread.

Drives To Store

The fire apparently started about 10 a. m. McMillen, who had no phone in his home, drove several miles to the general store of Mrs. Albert F. Wolfe along Oldtown Road. Along the way he asked neighbors to help him fight the blaze, and at Mrs. Wolfe's he borrowed a fire extinguisher and she called firemen for assistance. They got the call about 10:30 a. m.

Although McMillen was uncertain about the cause of the fire that destroyed his home he said that it appeared to have started on the second floor near where the wires from outside enter the house. The loss reportedly was partially covered by insurance.

Four of the six McMillen children were in school when the fire started. All of the family managed to get out of the house without injury.

Three Companies Fight Blaze In Hyndman Home

Damage Is Set At $4,000

Three volunteer fire companies, hindered by a water supply problem, yesterday afternoon fought a blaze which gutted two rooms of a Hyndman, Pa., home and caused damage estimated at about $4,000.

The home on Locust Street in the north end of the community was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas and their two daughters. No one was injured.

The fire, according to Hyndman Fire Chief Arden Fichtner, was disiovered about 4:40 p. m. and the cause was determined as an overheated furnace pipe.

The blaze was reported to have started in the kitchen at the rear of the house. Then it ate its way up into a second floor bedroom.

Most of the furnishings of these rooms were destroyed by fire and much damage was caused in the rest of the house by water and smoke.

Volunteer firemen from Hyndman, Corriganville, and Ellerslie went to the scene as six pieces of fire-fighting equipment were put to use. Since the firemen were faced with the lack of an ample supply of water 1,500 feet of hose was laid by Hyndman firemen from Wills Creek to the burning structure.

Meanwhile the volunteers from the other two communities used their storage water tanks as some water from the reservoir was used. The blaze was brought under control about 5:15 p. m.

Some of the household furniture and clothing were carried outside the burning building by the Thomas family and residents of Hyndman. Fichtner said that damage to the two-story, six-room frame building was about $2,000, and to the furnishings, another $2,000. The structure, reported to have been covered by insurance, is owned by Robert Brooks, who is now employed in Baltimore.

Mrs. Thomas was reported to have lost her diamond ring and most of her clothing during the afternoon blaze. The family will be housed temporarily in the homes of friends at Hyndman.

Many Benefits Lost Because Of Late SS Filing

Social Security Head Urges Prompt Action

Family income running into hundreds of dollars is lost every month because eligible persons are not applying for their social security benefits promptly, James E. Robertson, manager of the local Social Security Office, said yesterday.

A main reason for these losses, he pointed out, is a lack of understanding of the new provisions of the law. For instance, benefits can now be paid to minor children of deceased mothers who were working in covered employment at the time of death.

Such benefits may be paid even though the father survives and continues working. But benefits must be applied for by someone responsible for the children's welfare before any payments can be made, he explained.

Robertson cited the case of a young widower who recently applied for benefits for his two minor children, based on the wage record of their mother who died in July 1951.

Lost $500 In Benefits

He didn't get around to filing the claim until July 1953. Although each child could have received checks for $15.70 every month since July, 1951, Robertson declared, the Social Security Administration can pay for only six months back from the month of filing.

Thus this family lost a total of $571.20—checks for 18 months — because no one applied for benefits and no one informed the local Social Security office of the death.

Incomplete understanding of other provisions of the Social Security law is responsible for delays in filing. Among these, Robertson said, are benefits payable to widows and minor children of men who died in service.

Since the law now gives wage credits for time spent in active service at any time from September 16, 1940, and before July 1, 1955, all widows or such veterans should inquire concerning eligibility for benefits.

Retirees Included

Self-employed persons who are past 65 are now fully insured under the law if they have reported net earnings for the past two years. Many of these self-employed persons, Robertson added, could have filed applications for benefits at any time since last July and could be drawing benefit payments now.

These include the self-employed who are past the 65-year age and are still operating their trade or business, but making less than $900 net earnings a year. The law considers them retired if net earnings do not average over $75 a month.

Robertson stressed no loss need occur if workers will inquire at their Social Security office when they first begin to think about retiring, and if someone in the family will immediately contact the office when someone in the family dies.

The local Social Security office is located on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

He added that both he and William Knieriem, the other council member involved in the controversy, believe the Council has no authority to "fire" them.

The positions held by Frantz and Knieriem were declared vacant on Tuesday when they failed to give cause of their failure to attend council meetings.

The Council delayed the appointment of their successors until November 3.

Salvation Army Fund Campaign Gets Underway

Heads Set Goal At $19,500

The Salvation Army fund campaign got underway last night with the Advanced Gifts committee meeting at the Citadel and announcement that the campaign's goal is $19,500.

The first report meeting of the Advanced Gifts group will be held Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the Citadel. The Advanced Gifts goal is $14,000.

Adolf Blunk, general campaign chairman, outlined plans for the drive and introduced Lewis J. Ort, chairman of the Army's Advisory Board. Ort stated the Army campaign for funds to operate through the year 1954 is just like any other campaign, but in many aspects is completely different. He pointed out that the success of this drive will have far reaching effects in the human work of the Army.

Introducing Capt. and Mrs. Daniel K. Biggs, commanding officer of the Army, and Lt. Harry Powell, commanding officer of the South Cumberland Corps, Ort described them as "people devoted to the cause of humanity."

Blunk Outlines Plan

Blunk outlined the job of raising enough money to continue the Army's program here.

Rev. Seth C. Morrow, an Advisory Board member, told the workers why the Salvation Army withdrew from the Community Chest.

"The answer is very simple," he declared. "The Army, through the Chest, could not get enough money to carry on an effective program that is desperately needed in Cumberland."

He explained that the Army was allocated $14,000 in this year's Chest budget, and had to reject it because it was not enough. He pointed out that in 1930 and 1931, the Army had a Chest quota of $14,500, and that, in 1929, it was allowed $14,225. He asked how if it cost that much to operate the Army in the years when a dollar was not deflated it can operate for less now?

Life Saving Agency

Rev. Morrow declared the Army now operates the South End Corps which it did not have in 1929, 30 and 31. And yet today, he outlined, "the Army is doing more with less.

"It must be remembered," he continued, "that the Salvation Army is a life saving agency, important to the moral tone of the whole community."

Members of the Advanced Gifts committee, which is to begin solicitation today, include Daniel Browne, Robert W. Young, Kenneth H. Mahaney, Glenn Morris, Lloyd S. McNeil, Carl R. Amtower, Norman E. Chirdon, R. G. Robeson, Albert H. Macy, Rev. Seth C. Morrow, Adolf Blunk, Lewis J. Ort, C. N. Wilkinson, David M. Watson, A. DePollo, R. Appel, J. H. Stitely, Daniel J. Dopko, Ralph A. Knieriem, H. Clifford Spiker, George E. North, George Butts, R. L. Spiker, Garnett Davis, Charles Patterson, Ray Hamner, F. Allan Weatherholt, Robert L. Davis, George Millenson, Paul D. Pickens, Ray Cunningham, Robert Schubert, Russell Pancake, James Scarpelli, K. O. Christner, John Conway, Capt. Daniel Biggs and Lt. Harry Powell, Howard E. Douglas, John H.
